RESISTANCE OF NAZIS STIFFER BUT RUSSIANS POUND WHOLE FRONT

Soviet Forces Withdrawn From Crimean Port of Feodosiya—Three Enemy Transports Sunk in Barents Sea—Trainloads of Donets Coal Reach Moscow Over Reopened Railway

MOSCOW, Feb. 3 (Tuesday) (AP).—The Red Army continued to pound the Germans all along the central and northern fronts in a vast effort to disrupt the Nazis' Spring offensive plans, but the midnight communique reported stiffening resistance and the withdrawal of Soviet forces from the Eastern Crimean port of Feodosiya.

Feodosiya (which the Germans said they recaptured January 19 after losing it December 31) was abandoned "some days ago," the communique said, and held only "isolated fighting by man counter-attacks, inflicting heavy losses in men and equipment."

The Berlin radio claimed the Germans had repulsed the Soviets east of Ackmonai on the Kerch Peninsula, Crimea's eastern tip, and had reached the Kerch-Feodosiya road, a point some eighty miles east of the salient which the Russians said several days ago had been driven as far as Lenovara, between the Donets and Dnieper Rivers.)

TRANSPORTS SUNK

In the Barents Sea, Soviet warships sank three enemy transports totaling 6,000 tons, and in the week ended January 31 the Russians destroyed 189 planes, compared to their own losses of thirty-nine aircraft, the announcement said. Eleven more German planes were destroyed Sunday.

Indicative of the general Red Army sweep westward, however, was a Tass report that the first streetcar

LAYS PLANS FOR DEFENCE

Australia Moves to Strengthen Air, Land and Sea Forces

MELBOURNE, Feb. 3 (AP).—Australia today put into a telegraphed reply strength for her air, sea and land defences today, and heard a new call to arms from Prime Minister John Curtin for shoulder-to-shoulder solidarity with Britain.

Australian strategy apparently was based on the belief that a through Singapore, still a mighty fortress, might withstand indefinite siege, it would not be unwise to regard as impregnable.

Although details of defence measures decided upon at a week-end Cabinet meeting were kept secret, these specific undertakings were announced:

AGE LIMIT RAISED

The top age limit for service in the Volunteer Defence Corps was raised to sixty-five years.

Arrangements have been made to step up the Dominion's aircraft output immediately and produce a new type of bomber.

Rear Admiral Percival McNeil, director of naval engineering, has left for the West Australian port of Perth, on the Indian Ocean, to carry on work which under Mr. Curtin himself lives last week.

The Prime Minister, announcing Admiral McNeill's departure, said the mission was of "extraordinary vital importance," to the Australian Navy.

FOR NEW BOMBER

He said an additional outlay of more than $15,000,000 was planned for construction of the new Australian-designed bomber, which Curtin announced will, along with Beaufort bombers, be made under terms of almost exclusive secrecy by the Commonwealth.

Plans also have been perfected, he said, for procurement of other types of munitions following a call for expansion of the Australian Air Force's service and repair facilities.

The York South seat was opened by the resignation of Major Alan Cockeram, Conservative, to make a vailable a seat for Mr. Meighen. Major Cockeram is on active service with the Canadian Army. The vacancy in Welland was created by the death several months ago of A. B. Damude, the Liberal member.

Batavia Feeling Near Threat of Aerial Invasion

Japanese Planes Hover Over Island in Java Sea North of Netherlands East Indies Capital—Eastern Arm of Thrust Toward Java Apparently Still Held Up

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 2 (AP).—The threat to this Netherlands East Indies capital increased today as Japanese dogs, it was believed, hovered over Bangka Island in the Java Sea, 220 miles north of here.

This aerial vanguard of invasion apparently was based on West Borneo, where it was concluded that Japanese troops had seized Pontianak, the big port 440 air line miles from Batavia.

Banka, noted for its rich tin deposits, is off the Sumatra coast and would serve as an intermediate stepping stone for a direct Japanese onslaught against Java, seat of the United Nations Command.

"From strengthened sources," The Netherlands communique said, "it has been concluded Pontianak has been occupied by the Japanese."

EQUIPMENT DESTROYED

The Indies announced last week that vital installations and equipment at Pontianak had been destroyed after Japanese troops landed at Pemangkat, eighty-five miles to the north, and began pushing south along the coastal road.

Possession of Pontianak gave the Japanese an important base to raid Allied shipping in the Java Sea between Banka and Singapore to the northwest.

Presumably the eastern arm of a

TEACHERS MAY STAGE STRIKE

Moose Jaw School Board Given Two Weeks to Meet Salary Demands

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Feb. 2 (CP).—Moose Jaw school teachers, members of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation, today made plans for 24 strike if demands for higher salaries are not met by February 16.

A notice to the City School Board said the public and collegiate teaching staffs, numbering 136, will "absent themselves from the schools" on and after February 16 unless their salary demands are granted. There are thirty teachers in the public schools and forty-five in the collegiate.

DEMAND SALARY INCREASE

A salary increase of $600 was included in the 1941 school board's estimates which was followed by the Local Government Board, the Local Government Board ruled the teachers be paid a cost of living bonus. The ruling was not accepted by the teachers' representatives.

The minimum salaries paid by the Public School Board are $750 a year with a maximum of $1,108, while the salaries of principals range from $1,373 to $3,100. Collegiate salaries range from $1,100 to $1,700 for women and from $1,200 to $2,100 for male teachers. Collegiate principals receive up to $2,900 yearly.

FOR INFORMATION

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP).—War Services Minister Thorson today informed the House of Commons that printed material distributed by the Department of Public Information cost an average of $15,000 a month during the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

BRITAIN AND U.S. TO HELP CHINA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt has asked the United States Congress to approve a $500,000,000 loan and from $1,200 to $2,100 for male teachers. Collegiate principals receive up to $2,900 yearly.

FOR INFORMATION

Japanese Mid-Ocean Islands Attacked by U.S. Ships and Planes

Extensive Damage Was Done in Assault Sunday on Gilbert and Marshall Groups—Many Enemy Auxiliary Vessels Sunk or Damaged

HONOLULU, Feb. 2 (AP).—Every ship and every man of the United States Pacific fleet, afloat and ashore, is now being utilized to the fullest extent to bring the war to the enemy's front door, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said today.

The fleet's spectacular assault on Japanese concentrations in the Old-Sett and Marshall Islands on Sunday the commander-in-Chief of the Pacific Fleet announced, was in accordance with the characteristic United States Navy tradition—seek out the enemy and destroy him.

"The question 'where's the fleet?' was answered partly by the splendid achievements of our ships and planes in attacks on enemy con-

SEEK HIGHER WHEAT PRICE

Big Delegation of Wheat Growers Promised Consideration by Government

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP).—Representatives of Prairie wheat growers were assured officially today that their difficulties are recognized by the Federal Government and that every consideration will be given to them.

It was evident tonight that the 400 Western delegates would return home without definite statements on a revised Government wheat policy, since Cabinet members told them at the afternoon meeting the whole question must receive Cabinet consideration after their representations had been heard.

But the tenor of Government members' remarks caused delegates to comment later than an increased initial wheat price—one of their chief objectives—seems likely to be announced soon.

The delegates want the initial wheat price increased by thirty cents a bushel to $1 basis No. 1 Northern at Port William. They also seek "parity prices" for agricultural products and other measures to improve their economic condition.

GUESTS OF MEMBERS

The farmers' two-hour meeting with the wheat committee of the Cabinet ended the business session for the day, but the farmers went directly from the convention hall in the Ottawa Hotel to the House of Commons restaurant where they were dinner guests of Prairie members of Parliament.

The delegation, which arrived in Ottawa on Sunday morning by special train, met with Federal ministers throughout the day, presenting their proposals for a higher initial price for wheat and other steps to improve the income of the wheat growers.

Representing 180,000 Saskatchewan residents who signed a petition carried by them to Ottawa, the delegates received a warm welcome from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who said the more Canadians became acquainted with each other's troubles, the better the solution would be.

ORDER DEFINES DEFENCE ZONE

Coastal Area Termed "Protected Area"—Enemy Nationals Must Move

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP).—British Columbia west of the Cascade Mountains and including the villages of Yarrow and Sardis has been defined a "protected area" under the defence of Canada regulations.

The order defining the area was published tonight in a special edition of The Canada Gazette and went into effect January 31.

Certain Japanese nationals now resident in the area are to be moved out, Government officials now are giving consideration to where they will be taken and possible labor projects on which they may be employed.

A high Royal Canadian Mounted Police official last night estimated the number of Japanese affected by the removal plan would be considerably less than 2,500

AREA IS DEFINED

The line separating the new protected area from other parts of the Province is described in the order as "commencing at boundary point No. 1 on the international boundary line between Canada and the United States . . ."

From the line follows the Cascade Mountains south, jogging around the villages of Hope and Yarrow, and ending at the international boundary. All islands are included in the area.

The order was signed by Defence Minister Ralston and Justice Minister St. Laurent.

SAYS BENNETT GREAT CANADIAN

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP). — Warm tribute to a former political opponent was paid to the House of Commons today by Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster), when he described Premier Bennett, former Canadian Prime Minister, as "a great Canadian."

Mr. Reid was speaking of Conservative party leaders and he said: "The best and most capable leader they had in late years, Rt. Hon. Richard Bennett, they forced to leave Canada."

"No one will deny that he was a great Canadian, Mr. Speaker. However, the hearts of that party now had turned to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, but in my estimation Meighen cannot replace Bennett in ability."

Mr. Reid also complimented Conservative House Leader Bannatyne.

Nazis Assert Warship Sunk Off Dominion

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 3 (AP). — The German High Command claimed today a German submarine has sunk a destroyer off the coast of Canada.

"The claim, made in a communique, was not confirmed in Canadian or British quarters.)

Details of the attack on the destroyer or her precise location were not given in the communique.

CURTAIN IS SLOWLY RISING ON GRAND TEST FOR POSSESSION OF GREAT EASTERN FORTRESS

Japanese Air Raiders in Heavy-Scale Assault Seek To Soften Up Defences of Singapore as Reinforced Defenders Face Invading Hordes Across Narrow Strait of Johore

Thousands of Guns Point At Narrow Strip of Water

SINGAPORE, Feb. 2 (AP). — Heavy black smoke floated across Singapore throughout today from fires started by Japanese air raiders engaged in a remorseless effort to soften up the stronghold for a final invasion thrust across the mile-wide Johore Strait.

By mid-morning four air raid warnings sounded and bombing was cascaded so widely separated parts of this besieged island. Firemen quickly isolated the blazes they started, limiting the damage to small areas.

The resounding thump of bombs blended now and then with the thunder of intermittent artillery fire from both British and Japanese batteries as reinforced Imperial defenders took up positions within sight of the long, brown invading salmons across the Strait in Jemore District.

CALM CONFIDENCE

With the curtain slowly rising on the grand test for the $400,000,000 island fortress, a feeling of calm confidence prevailed that the Japanese invader would be thwarted in the bid for this, his biggest and most urgently needed prize.

"I can tell you there are a lot of fighting fingers on rifles and machine guns around the island," an officer told me near one of the advance posts.

A small scale sample of what Singapore's defenders would do to an invasion scene was given yesterday when three small invasions

AIR FIELDS ATTACKED

"Our bombers raided the Japanese air fields at Kuala Lumpur and Kuantan in Malaya. On account of poor visibility it was impossible to determine the results of those attacks. Our planes returned to their base undamaged."

Picked Japanese regiments and special shock troops were given a daylight assault on MacArthur's men in the Philippines, the department reported, and one enemy wing was hurled back to the sea with many of its number drowning and the remainder being killed or captured.

The heaviest attack—that on both right and left flanks—was the sixth major land assault against General Arthur's outnumbered forces within the Bataan Peninsula three weeks ago.

SEVERAL POINTS IN BRITAIN HIT

LONDON, Feb. 3 (CP).—An enemy bomber was shot down into the sea off the East Coast of England today as Nazis grew dropped a few bombs on the East Coast and at a place in East Scotland. Some damage was done and there were a number of casualties, the Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security said.

In offensive patrols over the French coast, an enemy bomber was shot down and one British fighter was lost, the Air Ministry announced.

SHATTER TWO BIG THRUSTS

Defenders of Batan Smash Japanese Attacks on Two Coasts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP).—Japanese shock troops shattered themselves against General Douglas MacArthur's indomitable defenders of Bataan, the United States War Department reported today, while far to the south four American bombers destroyed nine Japanese warships in a remarkable aerial battle in The Netherlands East Indies.

An announcement that the situation was given in the department's late day communique which said:

"Enemy fighter planes intercepted a group of our bombers which were en route to attack Japanese shipping in the harbor of Balik Papan on the island of Borneo. In the ensuing fight, nine enemy planes were shot down. One of our bombers was lost."

The communique also said:

AIR RAIDS INFORMED

Civilian defence officials of Victoria were informed by the Air Raid Precautions department, operating at least two deaths in the British area of crippling coal production in industrial Cape Breton.

The first storm came up on the Atlantic seaboard Jan. 27, and continued until morning, spreading a half-foot blanket over most of the region. Winds of gale force blew up during the night of January 26, when snow and sleet began falling shortly after midnight, continuing until the following afternoon.

Drifts fifteen feet high were blown by the severe storm.

NEWFOUNDLAND HIT

The same storm struck Newfoundland, and they were followed by a twenty-four-hour deluge of rain that sent streams to flood levels and caused considerable damage. The Bridge to Port Aux Basques swept away. Water Street in St. John's, Newfoundland, was under a foot of water.

For Cape Breton, the storm was its worst in five years. Practically all towns in the area were isolated from one another as roads were blocked and telegraph and telephone wires snapped. Communications had not been fully restored today.

Mr. Prince Edward Island, the blizzards served further to tie up roads already snowbound by an earlier storm. Only a few roads leading to airports were serviceable. New Brunswick escaped the full brunt of the storms. The snowfall was lighter in that province, though some roads were blocked.

Defenders of Burma Pouring Reinforces Fire Into Attacking Forces Along River

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 2 (CP).—British and Indian troops and engineers were reported tonight pouring a murderous fire into Japanese troops attempting to cross the Salween River, and the Royal Air Force announced that A Libar aerodrome immediately attacked invasion forces on Kado Island, in the estuary between Martaban and Moulmein.

Although the Army communique said the situation on the southeastern front was unchanged, front-line dispatches said the Japanese had succeeded in getting some troops across the Salween eight miles north of Martaban and in raid the railway winding almost 300 miles around the Gulf of Bengalen.

Tom Reid Tells House of Enemy Aliens Living in "Military Compound" — World Recall Mr. Naughton to Advise on Defence of Canada

OTTAWA, Feb. 2 (CP).—Return to Canada of Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian Corps commander, to advise the Government of Canada was proposed in the House of Commons today by Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster).

Mr. Reid criticized the Government for indifference to the Japanese menace in British Columbia and said that even new Japanese were permitted to live in "military compounds" where even he, as a Member of Parliament, could not enter without great difficulty.

Legislature Passes Budget Items in Day Of General Business

Departmental Outlays for Coming Fiscal Year Are Reviewed by House, Sitting as Committee on Ways and Means—Double Sittings Continue

RESUMING in double sittings yesterday, the British Columbia Legislature ratified more of the budget for the coming fiscal year. The House sat as a committee on ways and means in the afternoon, ratifying votes in the Department of Agriculture, with Flight Lieutenant E. V. Finland, deputy speaker, in the chair, and Hon. K. C. MacDonald explaining itemised expenditure in his department. The House, in an independent mood, forced a two-hour debate on agricultural outlays, before ratifying the items as presented.

Dr. MacDonald defended marketing control and said returns to the farmers had been greater under the scheme than before its inception. Both surveys, he said, had been carried out over extensive tracts of land in the Prince George and Fraser Valley areas, and this work would be continued. In general, farming in the province was in fair condition, with increased acreage and better herds.

At one point the Minister of Agriculture said he would do away with the Civil Service Act in respect of examinations under which he asserted was the lack of individuals had piled up for whom there was no immediate employment. Urged to undertake milk inspection in Vancouver, Dr. MacDonald said the province had no authority in the matter nor would his department contribute the ranging of wild horses in Peace and other areas.

The items ranged far afield among the fourteen types of agriculture in British Columbia, and were considered on a non-political basis from all sides of the House. Votes having £30,000 or £20,000 voted appropriations last year, Dr. MacDonald said there had been years in which his department had returned $40,000 to the treasury, unexpended.

AGRICULTURE

Estimates in the Department of Agriculture call for $349,106, compared with $340,306 last year.

The votes include: Livestock branch, $101,746; horticultural branch, $67,466, general office, $32,815; field crops and seed improvement, $42,230; markets branch, $6,140; plant pathology, $17,890; pest control, $16,000; minister's office, $10,880, and miscellaneous votes totaling $60,143.

In the miscellaneous votes are included Grants to farmers' institutes, $7,800; women's institutes, $6,612; agricultural exhibits, $3,700; soil survey, $6,400; automobiles and accessories, $3,000; agricultural fairs, $14,300; rebates on stumping powder, $11,000; rat extermination, $1,300, and expenses in connection with agricultural investigations and extension, $70,000. The latter item included $3,000 for encouragement of hops and bees' livestock and other stock.

The House resumed at 8:31 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. today.

DISCUSS A.R.P.

Replying to C.C.F. members, who criticized the lack of a full dress debate on air raid precautions work when the House resumed at night, Attorney-General Maitland said that the Province was doing all in its power to round out and perfect protections services, under a joint provincial commission.

Provincial Police, he said, had been specially trained, and in turn would instruct A.R.P. committees in the smaller areas Metropolitan areas were also commissioned in the coast area, in conjunction with Red Cross, St. John Ambulance, fire and other services. The Canadian Legion had volunteered the help of returned men and all are posted where they could help.

At the same time, Mr. Maitland conceded, much yet remained to be done, and the Province itself did not have much authority in the matter, which was primarily under the Dominion. Asked if the Province had considered construction of air raid shelters at coastal towns, Mr. Maitland said that he was not in a position to commit the Government on that point. It would be impossible, he said, to build air raid shelters everywhere. Citizens were jointly responsible to do what they could to help A.R.P. work, and could build home shelters in their basements, if required.

WAR INSURANCE

War risk insurance was being studied by the Dominion, whose representatives were on the coast currently, and in his opinion some action would be taken at Ottawa on the plan, the Attorney-General responded, in reply to further questions. Uniform instructions in the schools was a good suggestion, and one that he would be glad to forward, Mr. Maitland said.

Two of the fourteen members of the C.C.F. contributed to the debate, Hugh Savage and Harold B. Winch, leader of the Opposition, declared a special contract to supply seventy-five air raid sirens on the coast had been halted by the Dominion, after twenty-eight sirens of the "Federal" type had been delivered in Vancouver. The sirens had been under manufacture by the Federal Manufacturing Company, for which the General Electric and Northern Electric were agents. The sirens were now stored in Vancouver, Mr. Winch declared; while another firm had been asked to supply a different motor.

Attorney-General Maitland replied that the Province had no control over the matter. His information was that technical experts of the National Research Council had recommended a two-tone siren as more suitable for the work and that these were on order for use in British Columbia.

The House passed on to consideration of the votes in the Attorney-General's department.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Estimates in the Attorney-General's office call for $1,977,477, against $2,067,827 last year.

The main votes include, Provincial Police, $1,018,180; game branch, $239,780; county jails, $211,740; land registry offices, $137,074; administration of justice, $66,000; Supreme and County Courts, $60,815; gun-control office, $30,662; commissions under $24,976; provincial secretary, $24,350; fire marshal's branch, $20,-940; film censorship, $11,961; sheriffs' offices, $25,965; official administrator, $12,540; official guardian, $3,233; miscellaneous, $11,450, and miscellaneous votes of $64,130.

Under miscellaneous votes are included, coroners' inquests, $15,000; legislation, $8,000; printing on coroners' journals, $25,000; uniform legislation survey, $1,000; after-care for prisoners' dependents, $1,200, and $1,300 for contingencies.

TO STUDY BONUS

Questioned under salary votes in the police branch as to whether the Province contemplated to put the cost-of-living bonus to civil servants, the Administration replied that the point was under consideration. Premier Hart said that the Government had not yet decided to give a separate consideration to what would be involved, but would consider it at the earliest opportunity. The bonus, if decided upon, could be made under the Civil Service Act. It was desired particularly to give consideration to the position of ex-salaried groups and married men, Mr. Hart said in reply to further questions.

Responding on other matters, Attorney-General Maitland said that the Liquor Control Board would lose $13,000 this year by reason of proceedings on certain of its stocks. Protests had been made against dummy corporation in certain warzone housing, and the Province was seeking to adjust that matter. The Province had considered training public prosecutors in provincial cases, and would make a trial of that plan in Vancouver shortly.

Mr. Maitland defended the Game Branch, which he said was doing considerably more work than the public supposed. Complaints as to damage to crops by bear, deer and pheasants were noted, and will be investigated.

Asked if the Province would cut our licence fees, now that rubber was scarce, the Attorney-General said that representation to that effect had been made, and that the matter would be carefully considered.

The committee rose to report progress, with votes in the Attorney-General's Department completed, W. T. Straith (Liberal, Victoria) reported the Vancouver Incorporation Act as reviewed in committee, with changes.

The House rose at 11:30 p.m., until 2:30 p.m. today.

CHARGES OTTAWA WITH INDIFFERENCE

base on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, which had been resumed earlier in the afternoon by John R. MacNicol (Conservative, Toronto-Davenport).

Mr. MacNicol expressed opposition to the conscription, plebiscite and repeated plea he has frequently made in the House that Canada get into the manufacture of iron on a scale which will guarantee supplies for war industries.

There was a long question period at the start of today's sitting, with Minister Mackenzie King told the House that consideration is being given to the question of diplomatic representation in Russia.

As for plebiscite details, Mr. King said the plans of the Government will be made public in due course and that they will be such as "would command themselves to all."

Mr. Reid said the people of British Columbia were apprehensive, not only because of the fear of air attacks, but because of the menace of large numbers of Japanese in that province.

"Last year," Mr. Reid said, "I protested against allowing five Japanese families to the inside zone of our military compounds and defence areas, and the only answer I got was that all those were loyal citizens.

"The day Canada declared war on Japan the Royal Canadian Mounted Police picked up some of these and interned them as enemy aliens.

"Nothing has been done since, so far as I know about others still living there, but a few feet away from the very defence zone we are depending upon for protection at the mouth of the Fraser River."

CHARGES LOOSE THINKING

Colonel Ralston said there was some confusion "loose thinking and talking" about defence areas. He said this matter was formerly under the Justice Department, but he had been willing to take it over and leave as many appointments as possible, although he believed it more a matter of civilian administration.

Mr. Reid observed that the minister had not denied the statement that Japanese families living close to the guns.

"I visited that district the day I left for Ottawa and, but for the fact that I am a Member of Parliament, I could not have got into the area, but the Japanese and their relatives and friends could come and go inside that military compound," he said.

"Does my honorable friend know that that is a defence area established by the military authority?" Colonel Ralston said.

"I do not know, but I know there are four cars there all the family of the river, and if it is not a defence area it should be." Mr. Reid replied.

"Who was it kept my honorable friend out—a sentry?" Colonel Ralston asked.

Mr. Reid: "Yes."

JAPANESE ALLOWED IN

Colonel Ralston: "And allowed the Japanese in?"

Mr. Reid: "Yes—fifty-five non and their families in that area."

Howard Green, (Con., Vancouver South): "The Japs are between the camp and the beach."

Colonel Ralston: "I assure my honorable friend that it was not a defence area, such as set up under the Defence of Canada Regulations, but in a looking glass."

Conservative House Leader Hanson: "Then what is it if it is a gun area?"

Colonel Ralston: "What the honorable member is talking about is in the vicinity of some guns, but it is not a defined defence area."

Mr. Reid made a plea for serious consideration of British Columbia problems, for more anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and other equipment.

CONCERT PARTY

The Intermediate Musical Arts concert party delighted a crowd of soldiers at the Sunday evening concert in the T.M.C.A. Rest Mansion Point, when the programme opened with a sing-song. Vera Wood and Robin Wood acted as accompanists. Songs were sung by Shirley Quinn and Phyllis Gordon, and several humorous comic sketches were given by Joy Crowe with Mrs. Crowe at the piano; violin solos, Patricia Strachan. with Helen McRae as accompanist, and piano solos by Robin Wood and Vera Wood. One of the men, Frank Hayward, played banjo solos, which were much enjoyed. At the close of the programme Mr George Gordon thanked the members of the party and refreshments were served.

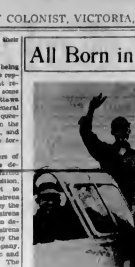
All Born in Foreign Lands



THE melting pot of America is exemplified in this picture. Seven enlisted men at the Air Force Aerodrome, Patricia Bay, Victoria, Texas, were born in foreign soils, six of which are now belligerent. To them there are two things in mind: "Keep 'Em Flying" and "Win the War," and they know how.

of Danes could had reached factories in the Moscow region over an enemy line. They were greeted by Soviet armies. The agency did not name the line to the Donets Basin.

(The main rail line extends through Orel, Kursk and Kharkov, points which the Russians have been attacking but have not announced they have captured.

SMASHING FORWARD

The Russians are smashing forward around Rzhev, northwest of Moscow, and Kharkov in the Donets, and hammering at the German wedge north of the Sea of Azov with the result that their spearheads were forcing the Nazis into huge pockets.

(The fall of Dnieperpetrovsk, site of the huge Dnieper power dam, dominant on the big bend of the Dnieper, a expected soon as the result of the offensive against Kharkov which is now about thirty miles away from the Donets basin area.)

On the Leningrad front, the Red Army was said to have wiped out 1,700 more Germans. On the northern front, little news from the recent Soviet accounts. Red infantry reported the capture of village "N."

TALK OF OFFENSIVE

Red Air Mooove there is much talk of a Spring offensive by the Germans.

"Every German we kill or capture now," asserted one big, bluff Russian major, "means two less to come against us in the Spring."

"I wish they soon would find more of them to kill," snorted another officer, a scrappy lieutenant.

The parson met one of his flock in the village street, and stopped to speak to him.

"John, my good man," he said severely, "your wife tells me that your conduct of late has not been at all desirable. Why don't you take a lesson from me? I can go to the village and come back again without getting inebriated."

"Aye, mebbe you can, sir," replied the other, "but ya see, I'm one popular."

U.S. FORCE ATTACKS JAPANESE ISLANDS

United States warships were slightly damaged by "near misses" of Japanese bombs, and seven aircraft were lost.

Despite the disquieting failure to catch large Japanese warships there, the heavy raid carried implications of important tactical accomplishments.

BASE FOR SUBMARINES

Many submarine bases have been reported operating off the Pacific Coast of the United States and believed to have had their operating bases in the Marshall Islands, Japan's easternmost possessions.

The islands, some 3,000 miles southwest of Hawaii and 600 miles south of Wake Island, lie across the principal route of supply between the United States and the besieged defenders of Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines and of Singapore.

The crippling of these Japanese naval and air bases likewise cripples the interference the enemy can interpose against military convoys from the United States to all the Western Pacific theatre.

East Indies Vital Says Dr. Bierman

"The Netherlands Indies, where all traffic passes from the Asiatic mainland and from Japan to the Pacific, is the pivot of the Allied defence in all the Far East," said Dr. Bernard Bierman in his address to the Canadian Legion yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel.

Should The Netherlands Indies fall into enemy hands, Dr. Bierman asserted, it is easy to see that all the British Isles and Australia would be in serious danger. The natural resources of essential world importance in the Indies are of enormous importance to modern industrial civilization and should the Japanese gain control of these wealthy islands, Canada, the United States and indeed most of the nations of the world, would have to beg Japan to sell these staple products and pay the price demanded for them.

The population of The Netherlands Indies was severely million Dr. Bierman told his audience and Java, the largest island, had a population of fifty million people. Dr. Bierman explained this "overpopulation" by the fact that Java had exactly the same general features as Japan, which was also overpopulated, said Italy. The volcanic soil, extremely fertile, the soft climate and the luxuriant growth, apart from the mineral wealth, accounted for the large populations in these countries.

READY FOR WAR

To prove the preparedness of The Netherlands Indies, Dr. Bierman cited that on May 10, 1940 the day of the German invasion of Holland, Governor-General van Starkenborgh Stachouwer, in the Netherlands Indies, was in conference with the Japanese Ambassador when he received a telephone message from The Hague, just three words, "It has happened." He pressed a button and continued his conversation with the ambassador, who on leaving the palace had no knowledge that all his German "friends" taken into internment camps all the German aliens in the Indies occupied There were 135 ships taken over, the crews being taken by surprise, and only one ship was scuttled. Another more recent example of the preparedness of the Dutch in the Indies was on November 26 1941, when the Dutch Fleet was ordered to sea, the naval authorities not trusting the Japanese mission in Washington. This was one week before the Japanese attack came and the fleet thus cruising off the Malayan coast sank four Japanese troopships, with a loss of 4,000 men, on the very day of the attack.

Dr. Bierman said the Indies were richest in oil, rubber, tin, coal, iron, sugar, tea and coffee, essential commodities in world markets.

A Netherlander by birth, Dr. Bierman is a naturalized Canadian. He is a writer and lecturer of note, on international affairs, and a former professor of political science at the University of California. He was introduced by A. L. Carroll, chairman of the meeting, and G. A. Cameron.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

In her report Mrs. A. O. MacDonald, the honorary secretary-treasurer, announced that Lieuten. Ann-Cameron and Mrs. Wrenford had accepted the league's invitation to honorary membership, and that six new members had joined since the last meeting. During the month of January $321.26 had been sent to London and the total contribution for all purposes had been $501.26. Two shipments of clothing, weighing over a ton and a half, had been dispatched during the month.

NAZI DRIVE UNCHECKED

Axis Forces Push 100 Miles Beyond Libyan Seaport In Three Days

CAIRO, Feb. 3 (AP).—British headquarters announced today that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's desert army had pushed on another 100 miles since the fall of Benghazi three days ago in a drive which has carried it one-third of the way across Cyrenaica in ten days.

Headquarters said the Axis advance still was in "considerable strength," and reported that engagements had taken place at Marada, the Sirocta area, and near Msus Marada, eighty-five miles northeast of Benghazi, is almost mid-way between that port and Derna. Sirocta is nineteen miles farther northeast.

ATTACK AXIS FLANK

Only in the Msus area from which the Axis forces veered north last week to strike past Benghazi were the British troops on the offensive. They said their mobile columns at that flank of Rommel's drive captured four Axis vehicles and their crews, reportedly in patrol operations.

There was no mention of a bench sixty miles northeast of Benghazi, which the Germans claimed to have captured.

The British communique said that the 7th Indian Brigade, which was the last to leave Benghazi, had fought its way through Cyrenaica's Italian tank lines with relatively few losses.

Engineers and other units left behind to demolish military installations at the port probably have been captured.

BATAVIA FEELING INVASION THREAT

Japanese thrust toward Java still was held up in the Salik Papan area on Macassar Strait, where combined Netherlands-American action smashed a heavy toll of Japanese ships last week.

SITUATION CRITICAL

But the situation on Amboina Island, site of a big Indies naval base between Celebes and New Guinea off the Australian North Mainland, apparently was critical. Today's communique said no further word had been received from either Amboina or Laha, airdrome fighting in the Kendari region of Eastern Celebes.

The Tokio radio, which reported the seizure at Portlarak yesterday, was damaged slightly.

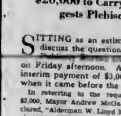
Estimates Committee to Deal With Request for $20,000 to Carry On Activities—Mayor Suggests Plebiscite on Whole Question

SITTING as an estimates committee, the City Council will discuss the question of continuing the Victoria and Island publicity grant of $20,000 during a meeting on Friday afternoon. An application from the bureau for an interim payment of $5,000 was also referred to the committee when it came before the council yesterday.

In referring to the request for $5,000, Mayor Andrew McGavin declared, "Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the finance committee, early in December urged bureau directors to carefully watch their expenditures. We should have a plebiscite on whether or not the bureau grant be provided from public funds."

Consideration was given to letters from the Windsor Motor Court and Mrs. Gertrude Burt-Smith urging



If Your Child Can't Build Up

Try New, Improved Ovaltine

Reasons has proved there are certain foods which every one needs for proper physique. If these are not enough of them in the foods we eat, we suffer. Ovaltine is a delicious nourishing drink which, if taken regularly, is likely to supply just the extra nourishment that many people need. Its resistance to infection may be increased.

As a pre-meal drink, New, Improved Ovaltine supplements the diet with certain food elements more likely to be deficient in ordinary foods—then it acts as an incentive to good digestion and helps to retard normal development.

Ovaltine has been a concern of Thurston & B. and D and the universal Caterers, Physicians and Iron Isn't recently, in the light of the latest knowledge of nutritional values, it has been introduced in all these channels.

So—if your child eats poorly, is thin, or under par, start giving him New, Improved Ovaltine.

Notwithstanding that a large number of producers are now in war service and that our remaining field force have devoted much of their time directly to soliciting war loans, both the new business and the increase in business in force were the largest in years.

secure money at a low rate of interest from the Federal Government for the purpose of embarking on a housing scheme.

The war emergency committee was requested to examine a plan from Hillside A.R.P. wardens that Quadra Street School be fitted up as headquarters and a first-aid station, and another from Fairfield wardens that attention be given to the construction of air raid shelters. Mayor McGavin stated Major-General R. O. Alexander and Col. R. J. Manion, national A.R.P. director, did not think such shelters necessary here.

ROOM FOR PUPILS

Board stated that 940 extra pupils could be accommodated in the various schools, in reply to questions of the council in regard to wartime housing. The business and trade committee was asked to make a report on the Provincial Government that store wood be placed under control of the coal and petroleum control board.

Gasoline tank installations were approved at 918 View Street and Y.M.D. Plant No. 3 at the Outer Wharf. A report of J. Murray, Victoria Public Market superintendent, showed revenue of $7,202.40 from 40 stalls and stalls, an increase of $865 over that of 1940. Forty-seven persons held market stalls at the end of the year.

SIDEWALK REPAIRS

Authority to spend $3,000 to repairing sidewalks was given the public works committee. The committee was also authorized to erect a school warning sign on Fort Street, between Richmond Road and Bank Street. By a vote of seven to four the parks committee was instructed to place 200 hanging flower baskets in the business section at a cost of $1,000.

Street lighting committee estimates of $1,000 were handed to the estimates committee. Alderman Davies suggested that the Victory Loan parade employ a two-hour demonstration of air-raid precautions by the Civilian Defence.

Sum of $250 was set aside to help finance cadet-rifle vacant lots for war gardens. A by-law was provided on payment of a $2.50 registration fee, for a permit to offer for sale all property bounded by Douglas, Johnson, Blanshard, Fisgard and Pandora Avenue, and to secure services of an appraiser to set a value on the lots.

PROPERTY SALES

Lands committee sales approved included one lot on the south side of Burton Street, between Doncaster Drive and Shelbourne Street, $50; south side of Market Street, between Haultain and Cedar Streets, $60; south side of Market tract, between Douglas and Rose Streets, $180; a house at 1,000 Pandora Avenue, $1,800, and another at 1,020 Port Street for $1,300. A parks committee request for $1,200 to prune Beacon Hill Park trees was referred to the estimates.

On the advice of Dr. R. Hamilton, veterinary surgeon, it was agreed to shoot a sick deer at Beacon Hill Park. Conditions that Dunn, an old park horse, was not being properly treated were handed to the health committee for attention.

In reporting on the cutting down of Beacon Hill Park trees the parks committee stated two balsam trees were found to be completely dead, eleven were dying, and one maple tree had been too badly damaged to save. "We shall soon be at the end of our trees at that road and the parks committee will have no more to cut down," Alderman Worthington complained.

EXPLAIN SHOOTING

The parks committee also reported that two deer shot at the park on January 12 had spent most of their time hiding in bushes, and James C. Cunningham, game commissioner, had recommended that they be not released outside the city. The committee stated one of the deer carcasses had been sent to the Aged Men's Home and the other divided among parks employees.

Mayor McGavin warned W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, that he had no right to order the deer shot without referring the matter to the council. "If that happens again I shall suspend you. You got off very light. You are taking too much upon yourself," he stated. Alderman Worthington said it was not right to give a carcass to parks employees when it should have been sent to some charitable institution.

enemy craft—the first to attempt an approach to the island—found themselves engulfed in a storm of fire. One of the craft was sunk, the others put to rout.

QUIET DETERMINATION

The mood here was the of calmconsciousness of the quality of the ordeals and a quiet determinationment strengthened and heartened by the fact that reinforcements had arrived—as an it through.

From across their most British observers aground and in the air passed cautiously down at Singapore and now lost Malaya, where the invader's forces still were creeping down over the jungles, swamps and rubber plantations.

"Air observers' British headquarters said in its customarily restrained communique summarizing "report considerable enemy movements southward on the mainland.

"Enemy air activity over Singapore has increased throughout the last twenty-four hours. Some damage was caused, but military casualties have been slight."

This was all that was said save for the announcement that during Sunday British artillery was in effective action, shelling three small enemy craft and sinking at least one.

TRAINED ON STRAIT

But while the front thus fell into a brief, uneasy twilight of inaction, man were stirring endlessly in British Columbia and Alberta to place still stronger fortifications, training the hundreds of thousands of fresh and larger arms upon the sluggish waters of the Strait.

The quality of the greatest of all essentials, for a long stage—water was said to be good, despite the loss of the mainland reservoirs. The heavy rains of the west-coast raised the level of Elsie Lake, the wells which already were nearly full.

The Alaskan highway was under the forefront of the bitterest of the fighting in northern Malaya, since yesterday had been in the hands of Singapore's artillery action as well.

Australian gunners began shelling the main area roads on the mainland Japanese troops advanced from this activity, the troops occupied Johore were recovering from the long fatigue of the peninsula campaign.

NO LONGER USED

"The British news agency, Reuter's, reported from Manila, Java, the seat of the supreme Allied Command of the South-west Pacific, that the Singapore naval base on Johore Strait was no longer being used, since it is in sight of a range of mainland hills affording ideal positions and cover for Japanese artillery. Three of Singapore's air bases were said also to be similarly situated and substantially immobilized.

(Nevertheless, the dispatch pointed out that if Singapore and Java and base and air fields were held, they would be the "powerful nucleus of an offensive centre." It was added that Batavia fully recognized the great necessity of holding the island, and it was intimated that food as well as water was expected to prove adequate at Singapore.

(If Singapore were lost, it was said this dispatch, the torch of the imperfect earth policy would be pitilessly applied.

(In event of such a disaster, the island in Singapore would remain for some time within the bombing range of Allied aircraft, it was added. Java, it was pointed out would be forced back to a line on Java and would have to depend on the South Java ports for their supplies—via India and Australia and Australia and America.)

Thousands of Chinese volunteers were given many weeks of hard training. It was arranged to use the services of Major-General Chi-nese from eighteen to fifty-five.

GANGES FARMERS ELECT OFFICERS

SALT SPRING ISLAND, Feb 2.—The annual meeting of the Ganges Farmers' Institute was held recently in the Mahon Hall, with the vice-president, W. Hagie, in the chair.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $203.86 on hand, a marked improvement over the previous year.

There was a discussion regarding the boom days now gone long and dead, and the secretary stated that orders are now being taken for agricultural lime, on which the Government is still allowing a rebate of 50 cents per ton.

Members were notified that at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, F. W. White, of the Department of Horticulture, would hold a pruning demonstration in Dr. Rutan's orchard, Ganges.

Votes of appreciation were passed to the retiring president, R. Krebs, and the late former secretary, F. Lisfair, for the splendid work they had accomplished during their term in office, the secretarial duties have been recently efficiently carried on by R. V. Bettis.

The chairman reminded the members that they would have an spill fight this year in maintaining the standard of improvement. He urged them to try and increase the membership, now standing at eighty-seven.

The following five directors were appointed: W. Hagie, H. A. Robinson, Mr. Yorston, M. Glynn, C. Lee and at a subsequent meeting W. Hague was elected president; H. A. Robinson, vice-president; R. V. Bettis, secretary-treasurer, and F. Stevens and W. Palmer, auditors.

Island Unit Quotas For Second Victory Loan Announced

Greater Victoria Asked to Contribute $7,795,000 Of Island's $9,850,000—City Figure Is Set At $4,850,000—Officials Confident

GREATER VICTORIA will be called upon to contribute $7,795,000 of the Vancouver Island quota of $9,850,000 in the new Victory Loan drive, it was disclosed yesterday as divisional headquarters here announced quotas assigned the eight units in the division.

The campaign to raise $600,000,000, the second Canadian Government loan of this war, will be launched throughout the Dominion on February 16.

Greater Victoria area comprises Victoria, Richmond, Oak Bay and Saanich. The City of Victoria itself will be expected to raise $4,850,000, approximately one-half the quota allotted the entire Island division. In the Victory Loan campaign last June Victoria exceeded its quota of $2,700,000 by $117,000.

QUOTAS FOR UNITS

For the present loan the Island division quota has been divided among the other seven units as follows: Esquimalt, $580,000; Cob Bay $1,410,000; Saanich, $940,000; Cowichan, $700,000; Nanaimo, $700,000; Courtenay, $370,000; Alberni, $415,000.

Commenting on the excellent progress being made in organizing for the campaign in the Island division, T. R. Burns, public relations organizer here, said he was most optimistic.

"The ready co-operation and support being eagerly extended to hard-working organizers in districts in the various areas is one of the most heartening features of these difficult weeks of preliminary activity," Mr. Burns declared.

"There is every indication that Canada's fourth war loan will be pushed in this area by aggressive and determined workers, and that no effort will be spared in bringing in their quotas."

RECALL FORMER SUCCESS

Officials were confident that with the merited support of all citizens, the objective would be attained here. They recalled that in the June drive the quota was well oversubscribed throughout the Victoria and Lower Island Division. On that occasion the quota for the city area was exceeded by $462,450. Saddles Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich and Peninsula districts responded generously.

Selection of personnel for the committees in the Island areas is going ahead steadily and Mr. Burns is confident the campaign will get away to a most propitious start

EXAMINATION OF HOUSEHOLD WORKERS

"Many industries, department stores, commercial firms, municipalities and other large employers of labor now require a physical examination before engaging an employee, but provide a health service for their employees. Progressive hotels and restaurants demand health certificates from prospective teachers and hospitals examine every pupil nurse, not only before admission, but at regular intervals during the training. Why not the rule of the health department require domestic staff in hospitals and other institutions undergo systematic examination? Why not the rule of the health department require that all employees in food handlers and often workers such as barbers, beauty shop operators and laundry employees, whose positions involve the possible transmission of disease?

I am quoting from a special article by Dr. Cameron, Medical Director, in The Canadian Medical Association Journal. Dr. Stewart suggests that it is even more important that household workers be examined before being employed in a home.

"Strangers, of whom personal history, habits and background little or nothing may be known are invited into the home. They live in close contact with other members of the family, especially the children, handle the food, the linen, and clothing."

What does the householder know of the health history or present health of the new employee?

The employer can only go by the applicant's appearance. Only after the employment has been made and a longer or shorter stay in the home may enough or other signs of illness give rise to suspicion. Then the employee is either discharged or asked to consult her own or her employer's physician. Tuberculosis is particularly apt to go undetected.

A plan is now underway in Montreal to establish "Tests for Health Service," a household worker with a certificate of good health from an authoritative organization should obtain a situation in a household much more readily than without such a certificate.

The cost of this examination should be kept low and should be paid by the employer. The health of the community is really the health of the individual. Further, it is worth much to everyone of us to know exactly how we stand physically.

SAYS COUNCIL NOT TO BLAME

Everything Done to Maintain Standards in Housing, Reeve States

In a strong protest against criticism levelled at the Esquimalt Council because of the nature of the houses constructed in the municipality under the Wartime Housing scheme, Reeve Alec Lockley last night declared emphatically that the council and every department of the municipality had done everything possible to see that the surrounding district was protected and that proper building standards were maintained.

Naming the "Yukon" chimneys as one of the main points of criticism against the new dwellings, Reeve Lockley stated that representations had been made to the Provincial Fire Marshal to have sure that the present chimneys were not in accordance with the municipal bylaws requiring brick construction.

The matter had been referred to the Provincial Fire Chief by the fire marshal, the reeve declared, and it was now completely out of the hands of the Esquimalt Council.

He served the Attorney-General and the railway to show the Esquimalt Council from blame by announcing this fact on the floor of the Provincial Legislature

USED EVERY MEANS

Explaining municipality's course of an emergency situation, had allowed the Government to take the land over temporarily, the reeve said that every means to see that construction would be satisfactory, the reeve stated.

"To sorry this district has been put in a poor light by people who ought to know better," he declared.

The council gave its approval by the action of the Esquimalt Recreational Board in instituting school patrols in the municipality.

In a letter to the council, R. W. Mayhew, A.F., reported that the efforts to secure the additional A.R.P. equipment as requested by the council had met with success, he said, but that he would continue his representations to the Ottawa authorities.

THREAT TO THE BURMA ROAD

In the long run a factor that is going to be of vital importance in the war with Japan is the scant resistance offered by the Chinese under Generalissimo Kai-Shek. Already the fact that the Japanese have dissipated their forces over such wide areas in their effort to seize British and American territories in the Southwestern Pacific has not only stiffened Chinese resistance to the invaders but has enabled the Chinese to take the offensive at a number of points, as in the recent war in that area, The Round Table says.

The Japanese hold the chief towns and lines of communication in Burma, the Irrawaddy Valley as far as Schang, and Canton and Amoy on the coast, but very little of the occupied territory is under Japanese control. They are unable to check the activities of the guerillas behind their lines, or to circumvent the ingenuity of the traders who, in spite of the blockade of the whole coast, find innumerable gaps through which a steady flow of imports and exports is maintained. Armies numbering 800,000 to 1,000,000 are bogged down in China, and in the course of four years of fighting the Japanese have suffered about a million casualties. It is a complete stalemate. Even if the Japanese Higher Command were free from its other preoccupations, it seems doubtful whether the Japanese armies would ever be equal to the task of breaking the mountain barriers behind which the Chinese Government has entrenched."

So long as the Burma Road is kept open the Chinese will receive a steady flow of supplies from Great Britain and the United States. A part of the policy of Japan in her present campaign is a direct attack on this road, and it has been one of a greater extent than before now she occupies French Indo-China, Thailand and Malaya. That explains her invasion of Burma which has already extended to Moulmein and beyond. All this was foreseen, at least to some extent, when Japan extended her influence to French Indo-China with the collaboration of the Vichy Government. The safety of the Burma Road is menaced, which is another indication of the strategic value of the road that must be brought to bear on war in the Orient to insure a victorious issue.

EVASION OF LEADERSHIP

Comment throughout the bulk of the newspapers of the Dominion has been couched in particularly strong language in condemnation of the Government's intention of holding a plebiscite on war effort. That is in reality what the decision means. The Government, despite the War Measures Act, despite the Militia Act, considers, because of pre-election statements made by its Ministers, that it cannot commit the country to total war. It refuses to say that this will be done if the question to be asked in the plebiscite is answered in the affirmative. That question is now regarded as likely to be couched in the following language: "Are you in favor of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any or all commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?" As John Bird, editor of The Winnipeg Tribune, writing from Ottawa, says: "There is no commitment as to whether the Government will use its powers to call the conscription of man-power after they are granted. This is the maddening, maddening disappointment." Mr. Bird points out that it is these powers exist now. If there ever was a time when they should have been exercised it was from the beginning of the war of lethality, the war of attrition as decreed by the Axis Powers. Every day lost in bringing total strength to bear upon the challenge is a day that adds to the duration of the struggle. Here are some more press comments on the plebiscite:

Toronto Telegram—Canada's need should not have to wait on a coward's convenience. . . If there is to be an appeal to the country give the electors the chance to say whether they want to leave the war effort in the hands of a Government which has confessed that it is incompetent to do so.

Le Soleil, Quebec—So the Canadian Government didn't foresee all things when it took solemn engagements before the people before and since the war, even in recent days when certain of its ministers intimated that conscription for overseas service would be injudicious. In the moment of losing a dear illusion, it guards well against aggravating, by vain agitation, a tense situation. The only comment today is that this policy does not conform to parliamentary tradition. In the same circumstances would Sir Wilfrid Laurier have acted as has Mr. King?

Ottawa Journal—Almost the worst thing that could happen has happened. We are in the period of a crisis of the war we are to take time out, invite delay and trouble and expense, plus the peril of political disunity, to have a plebiscite on whether we should release Prime Minister King from a pledge that he gave of 8 alleged to have given, against conscription—two years ago.

Halifax Herald—There is no lack of conscription in the laws of Canada as they now stand, but since the particular law (The Militia Act) always has been passed over by public men, the people of Canada must take conditions as they find them today. The immediate and inescapable fact is that a plebiscite has been decided upon in the terms outlined, and the only effective course now open is to see to it that the Government gets the answer it seeks, and that decisively.

Toronto Globe and Mail—We can think of no step fraught with greater danger. It can be said with certainty that this cowardly evasion of leadership will be received by posterity not as a pattern to imitate but as an example to deter.

Ottawa Citizen—Having dodged the issue itself, the Government resorts to the stratagem of a plebiscite to the people. This course might be condoned were not the stark facts of the present situation so sombre and had not this same Government been the one which declared war on peremptory on Germany and Japan—reform itself by ways "total war" and persuaded itself that it alone is fit to conduct the war. But has it thought of the effects of a plebiscite at this time?

GAMBLING AT COMMOTION CREEK

The Provincial Government is acting in the interest of the taxpayers when it can increase the revenues it derives from natural resources without any additional burden. That can hardly be said, however, when it engages in any gambling venture with the taxpayers' money. The drilling for oil at Commotion Creek has involved a heavy gamble. During the past four years a sum of $400,000 has been spent and there is no appropriation of $100,000 in the coming year's estimates to continue the work. Geological experts have examined the structure and have made a favorable report, drilling has been in progress. The experts predicted that the Peace River shales would be encountered at 1,800 feet. Now, says Mr. Maitland Stine, former Minister of Mines in the Patullo Government, "the hole is down 8,500 feet and the shales have not been encountered. At 2,900 feet the slope changed from 8 or 9 degrees to between 30 and 40 degrees. Serious cross-fracturing, or the top of a cone, had been encountered. The character of the rock changed at this horizon to an extremely hard kind, and this is continuing."

The former Government was quite honest in its conviction that oil would be found at Commotion Creek. It based its opinion on the advice of experts but the prediction of the latter has not been fulfilled, and, in the drilling that has been done, there is no encouragement that oil will be struck. From the beginning, this enterprise was not one in which a Government should engage because it is a matter of politics, and politics should always have been left to private enterprise. The latter was willing to undertake it over twenty years ago when small an effort was made by Anglo-Persian oil interests. That offer was refused, a reserve was placed on the Peace River lands and the Provincial Government has geological examinations made in a desultory way. If the $100,000 now in the Estimates is spent during the fiscal year then half a million dollars will have been sunk in the gamble. In these times of operative taxation a policy of this kind is unjustified and not warranted. There is little doubt that the taxpayers wish it to come to an end. All they can do now is to hope that their losses without throwing good money after bad.

VANCOUVER'S REPUTATION

Vancouver is accused of having "a reputation in other seaports of the world as a city where little is done for visiting men in uniform." This is said by a Victorian who serves as an officer and who is home on leave, and he gives some illustrations of what is done elsewhere. Vancouver will show good will if it lies down to the charge of this kind. If there is truth in it the matter is of sufficient importance to engage the attention of the elected representatives of the people of that city, and particularly of those representatives of the Provincial Legislature who have their home close to hand, and therefore have the greater opportunity of making their influence felt in domestic affairs. It seems, therefore, that Vancouver's members have a responsibility to remove the impression of a somewhat unfortunate attitude towards men who risk life and limb in their country. Since Vancouver is mainly represented by adherents of the C.C.F. it is logical to look to them to do their share in restoring the reputation of their city in this particular. That might well become a definite part of their war effort.

HYMN IN TIME OF WAR

O Lord Almighty, Thou whose hands
Despair and victory give;
In whom, though tyrants tread their lands,
The souls of nations live;

Thou will not turn Thy face away
From those who seek Thy will,
But send Thy peace on hearts that pray,
And guard Thy people still.

Remember not the days of shame,
The hands with raping dyed.
The wrongful blood, the monstrous aim,
The brute material pride.

Remember, Lord, the years of faith,
The spirits humbly proved,
The strength that died, defying death,
The love that loved the dark.

The race that strove to rule Thine earth
With equal laws unbought,
Who bore Thy truth in pangs of birth,
And broke the bonds of Thought.

Remember how, since time began,
Thy dark ascent was long,
Through lives of men that fear not man
In light for all unsung.

Thou will not turn Thy face away
From those who work Thy will,
But send Thy Spirit on the hearts that pray
For strength to serve Thee still.

Note and Comment

By SAHURAM CHAVES

Sometimes the natural world is a relief from what people are around them in the human world. Take a simple thing like a snowflake, for example. Looking at snowflakes through a microscope, man has found that no two of them are precisely alike. Lacking snow, the Victoria area has had no flakes, which this column can point is an excellent article in the magazine section of The New York Times for January 18. The border of a two-inch flake is the result of from enlarged reproduction of two score thousand tiny specks, apparently different from his companions. One could spend an hour with those flakes and their patterns and not grow tired of the study. The article which accompanies the magnificent photographs has been written factually, not perhaps as a poet or an artist would do it, but as one who was sincerely trying to convey as much genuine information as possible about a subject that is extremely hard kind, and this is continuing."

The former Government was quite honest in its conviction that oil would be found at Commotion Creek. Airmen Escape In Car Mishap

Five airmen narrowly escaped drowning Sunday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding plunged off the East Sannich Road into a fifteen-foot ditch and came to rest on its top in four feet of water. The accident occurred about 2.30 near the Patricia Bay Aerodrome.

The men succeeded in extricating themselves from the overturned car, which was badly damaged. None suffered serious injury. Three were from Ontario and two from Quebec, the two were Royal Canadian Air Force men.

The driver of the car told Provincial Police that he overturned while on the road when he attempted to avoid a dog. The airmen were driving to Victoria.

Traffic was held up for almost an hour by motorists who stopped to look at the car.

Air raid precautions are taken matter of fact in the town of Redmond, near Seattle. Townsmen have formed an auxiliary police force of fifty - five members, and plane spotters scan the skies twenty-four hours per day. There is also a volunteer fire department of forty men. From an editorial in The Sunday News, New York: "What we are curious to find out is who or what is going to own all the real wealth of the United States after the war. Land will go to the homes, farms, factories, mills, railroads, etc., which have been filled in part by large part to new people and by many new ones. Not everybody will be able to pay the taxes demanded. The Government's debt floating around as bonds may eventually become a burden. Holders of the dollar have its present decline and burn up enough Mortgage foreclosures, tax sales, bankruptcies on farm and home will likely take billions worth of property out of hands that held it now. The main guess seems to be that if the war goes on long enough we will burn up enough money and movable assets, the dollar will be worthless, and we will take over all the real wealth left in the country and try to manage it by the elected representatives of the people of that city, and particularly of those representatives of the Provincial Legislature who have their home close to hand, and therefore have the greater opportunity of making their influence felt in domestic affairs. It seems, therefore, that Vancouver's members have a responsibility to remove the impression of a somewhat unfortunate attitude towards men who risk life and limb in their country. OLD AGE PENSIONS

Sir,—Rats off to Mr. Hart, and this benighted Province.

Because they were not hamstrung by the deprecatory and unfeeling corroding anxiety of the unemployed, from now on British Columbia will lead the Dominion in Canada in the first province in the Dominion to augment the pitifully inadequate pension paid to those deserving old people, who, over a period of long years, gave the best of their earthly families, but were unable to make provision for their old age.

Ontario may have better roads, but the Province of Conservative British Columbia has raised a shining highway of humanism for the whole world to see.

Prayers are Jove's daughters of celestial race,
Lame are their feet and wrinkled is their face,
Bowed by vile sins and with averted eyes,
Constant they follow where Injustice flies.

Injustice, swift, erect, and unconfined,
Sweeps the wide earth, and tramples on mankind.
While Prayers but to heal her wrongs,

For him they meditate at the throne above.

RE SUGAR RATIONING

Sir,—I cannot refrain from publicly stating my opinion in regard to the latest sugar rationing order that took advantage of the first day of "voluntary" sugar rationing to stock up with unnecessary sugar.

What are we coming to when such a glaring evil thing is allowed pass in the midst of this terrible war? Have we no honor left, or certainly a conscience that is active, that when measures of the kind are taken by the Government that they must be enforced if they are to be effective and those of us who do try to play the game are to be protected.

I would suggest that not only do we have ration cards but that we be required to register ourselves for a certain daily or weekly supply at the rate of three quarters of a pound per person per week, and that anyone found guilty liable to imprisonment for a long period, or at a heavy fine up to $5,000.

It might be possible to curb those people's greed without the expensive, complicated system of ration cards by making the purchase of any particular article conditional upon the production of the ration card on the radio.

The stern majority of citizens will respond to Mr. Donald Gordon's appeals for co-operation and give it wholeheartedly, but there is a certain fringe of their general health as, apart from children and heavy manual workers, most people particularly the elderly, bring on much ill-health by eating too much sugar.

JAPANESE ETHICS

Sir,—Recent letters in your columns recall to my mind an interview I had, at the time of the Russo-Japanese war, with Admiral Ito, author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," and other popular novels and stories of the day. Mr. Ito had been in Japan at the time of my respondent, and he landed in Vancouver a disappointed and disillusioned man. He told how he had looked for news facilities and interviews with Japanese officials, but with partial acquiescence to be frustrated later by the censorship.

When I called his opinion of the Japanese, he said: "The Japanese brain is in many respects one of the most brilliant in the world, but it is disfigured by one black, pulpy spot. They are the greatest liars on the face of the earth. Why if the Goddess of Truth were to descend from heaven and stand on a platform six feet high before them with the letters T r u t h written six inches long across her breast they would not recognize her."

Then dashing with the British-Japanese Alliance of the day he remarked: "You Britishers will have trouble to keep your Empire intact without these people. Why man, the Japanese blame it a side game and while and yellow will never mix as you will find to your cost."

He added that the only alliance he was keen about was a British-American alliance. "That would be just and natural. Your alliance with the Japanese is not."

It seems to me now that his words were prophetic. Since then we have got rid of the alliance with Japan, and that of British and America, of which Mr. Roe Gresham, has been born. Long may it last.

SUGAR RATIONING

Sir,—One wonders whether the Wartime Prices and Trade Board whose first reaction to the sugar rationing request has thrown the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was to rush on the grocery stores first thing on Monday morning and stock up with large quantities of sugar realize the injustice of their act.

It is apparently useless to appeal to the better feelings of these fifth columnists, so perhaps a heavy fine, by their actions, are detecting the true object of the Axis action, perhaps forcing it to impose ration cards, a process entailing every expenditure of money, paper and labor, and they are betraying the troops by the resultant diversion of energy which might a necessary commitments. If we are prepared to get at these people by penning out to them the required ration more than a few weeks' supply at the rate of three quarters of a pound per person per week, the authorities would be quite liable to imprisonment for a long period, or at a heavy fine up to $5,000.

It might be possible to curb these people's greed without the expensive, complicated system of ration cards by making the purchase of any particular article conditional upon the production of the ration card on the radio.

The stern majority of citizens will respond to Mr. Donald Gordon's appeals for co-operation and give it wholeheartedly, but there is a certain fringe of their general health as, apart from children and heavy manual workers, most people particularly the elderly, bring on much ill-health by eating too much sugar.

Elderly Employees Of City May Keep Jobs for Duration

A MOVE to retain the services of employees more than sixty-five years of age was made by the City Council at a closed meeting last evening. Office workers and members of the outside staff, other than policemen and firemen, are considered to retire at that age under terms of the Superannuation Act. Twenty-five civic employees are due to leave the service on April 1, and aldermen felt a number could be retained for the duration of the war. They would have to first resign, and then be rehired as temporary employees. Forrest L. Shaw, city collector and D. A. Macdonald, comptroller, were requested to interview the twenty-five men affected, ascertain their opinions, and report back to the council.

IN EFFECT ON MONDAY NEXT

All Canada, Including Railways, to Observe Daylight Saving Time

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Traffic and ways, ticket clerks and baggage agents; conductors and rail sign, and indeed members of the whole Canadian railway family will assis again commencing promptly at 2 a.m., February 9, according to C. P. Riddell, general secretary of the Railway Association of Canada here.

"On that date, and at the hour," said Mr. Riddell, "train departure and arrival times as given in the timetable, as voted by information clerks and ticket sellers and by helpful railway workers generally, will mean just one time only; namely, the time governing the movements of every Canadian—the one and only time in operation."

"Canadian railways," Mr. Riddell continued, "will completely conform to the terms of the Government's order-in-council making the new time applicable throughout the entire Dominion, and to all the mandated branches of Canadian effort, and will accordingly operate passenger trains on the new time. The general public will, commencing February 9, be relieved of the necessity of indulging in mental arithmetic to the extent of adding one hour to train times as shown in timetables, and as told to ticket purchasers by ticket and information clerks.

It cannot be too strongly stressed, said Mr. Riddell, that, commencing February 9 there will be only one time in so far as Canadian railways are concerned, and that will be the new time.

The new time also goes into effect in the United States on the same day and United States railroads are taking the same action as the Canadian. Under the new setup arrivals and departures of passenger trains between the two countries will be co-ordinated so that all connections will be protected as they now are Tea in the best tradition!

Canterbury brings you time-honored tea flavor . . . saves you money, too!

CATHERINE, queen consort of Charles II, was England's first tea-drinking queen. How history does love did much to popularize it, and tea became the favorite beverage wherever discriminating people gathered.

Canterbury is loyal to this fine old tradition.

It's a noble tea, this Canterbury. High in quality . . . friendly in spirit. A stalwart blend of rich-bodied young tea leaves, picked in their prime.

We think you'll like everything about Canterbury. Its hearty flavor, its keen fresh bouquet, its splendid invigoration. But of all, you'll appreciate its low price. By ordering direct from the importer, your grocer avoids in-between expenses, and passes the saving along to you!

Another thing! You'll like Canterbury's new rigid carton. It's easier to open and close. Handier to use. The sturdy inner lining keeps out moisture, protects Canterbury's hoard flavor.

Try your first pound tomorrow with the assurance that unless you like everything about this tea, it costs you nothing!

A gathering of about seventy persons, including members of the W.A. to the Canadian Scottish and members of the children who attended the Christmas party given by the auxiliary at the Y.W.C.A. at Christmastime, enjoyed an evening of moving pictures, through the kindness of Inspector Clay, of the Victoria Truth Centre last evening.

Mrs. J. R. Kinghan was the hostess, and Mrs. P. Van der Vliet, president of the auxiliary, welcomed the guests and introduced Mr. Douglas Fitmicf, who showed a number of excellent films of the Canadian Scottish having Victoria and their subsequent journey to the Boat to Detroit. Candids and manoeuvres provided great interest, and these pictures were followed by scenes taken in England, showing the inspection by Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal and later the visit of His Majesty the King to the regiment.

The film taken during the children's party was of special interest, and this will be forwarded to Scotland, to be shown to the men of the regiment, and which will undoubtedly be welcomed by the fathers of the youngsters.

A beautiful bowl of heather was the centrepiece of the refreshment table. On behalf of the guests, Mrs. Alan Mortkill proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Kinghan and to her hospitality and thoughtfulness in providing such a delightful evening.

Service Held at Military Hospital

Men from all services are lying robed at Military Hospital, Work Point Barracks, most of them far from home but all receiving expert care in bright, sunny surroundings. As they are unable to attend the usual church services, care is taken that each man in sick bay shall be provided with a short service.

Through the wide corridors and wards the hospital looks attractive and pleasant with green walls and ceilings and a bright blanket folded at the foot of each bed, the padre moves and visits every man.

Challenge of War to Canadian Railways Develops Mighty Machine

MONTREAL, Feb. 2 (CP).—President K. C. Vaughan, of the Canadian National Railways, told the Canadian Club here today that the "prime function" of Canada's railroads is "their part in carrying out the war programme, and the whole effort of their workers will continue to be directed to their war duties."

Addressing a luncheon meeting, Mr. Vaughan described the railroad as a "mighty war machine," and said that war conditions present a "challenge to war management and to railway workers which will be met to the full."

Discussing the railway facilities of this war and the first Great War, Mr. Vaughan said, "the manner in which railways are handling traffic in the present war presents a contrast which may be viewed with some degree of satisfaction, although not with complacency."

"When it is realized that the traffic now being handled by the railways in Canada is so much greater in volume than the peak of the last war, it is to be seen that very great strides have been made by railroads in the interim.

"The improvements which have taken place have not been of a spectacular nature . . . but the march forward has been a steady one.

"This is the more remarkable because railways have been forced to find ways and means of making betterments during a time when . . . the industry as a whole was experiencing very difficult times, because no time did it encounter the full effect of the great depression in common with all other industries, but it had also to face as a special and added difficulty the development of highway competition . . ."

GOOD WORKING ORDER

In the long depression period the railroad operators maintained lines and equipment in "good working order." Thus, when war came Canada found itself in possession of

VESSEL RAMS SUBMARINE

Two Underwater Craft Believed Sunk by Canadian Ship in Atlantic

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 2 (CP).—Possibility that three Axis submarines might have been wiped out in brushes with merchant ships and Canadian warships in the Atlantic recently was seen here today as sailors of the merchant vessels told of the encounters.

The men of one Canadian merchantman told of ramming two objects believed submarines within a few minutes and of a subsequent hour-long attack by two Canadian corvettes. Crewmen of a British freighter said they had opened fire at night on what appeared to be a submarine and had scored direct hits.

That same day, the British vessel picked up thirty-two survivors of a torpedoed tanker who had been in a lifeboat eighteen hours. The shipwrecked men, who were brought here, reported ten others aboard the ship were killed.

The fourth engineer of the Canadian freighter, whose name cannot be revealed, told of the meeting with the supposed U-boats after his vessel had put into port for repairs. She was damaged only slightly in the bow.

CAME AT NIGHT

The collisions came at night, the engineer said. The ship scraped first after destruction and about five minutes later ran into another one.

A few minutes later, the corvettes started depth-bombing in that area, he said, apparently having picked up the sound of submarine engines. He counted eighteen explosions.

The British vessel's adventure came about in a similar way. At dusk, her keel grated over some object. Shortly after, the silhouette of what seemed to be a sub loomed up about fifty yards away. Opening fire, the ship's gunners appeared to score two hits. The object disappeared.

ASSIST WITH WAR EFFORT

Canadian National Organizations Play Important Part—Employees Loyal

MONCTON, Feb. 2.—"Our entire operations are being carried on with the view of assisting Canada's war effort in every way possible," declared C. T. Larsen, vice-president of the Trans-Canada Air Lines, Winnipeg, who, with Ronald F. George, operations manager, is on a tour of inspection of the company's facilities.

"A very large percentage of our passengers are either directly or indirectly traveling in connection with war work," Mr. Larsen continued.

"Mails and express also have a definite relation to the war effort. Our ships are being overhauled and repair work for the R.C.A.F. and, in some cases, are actually doing more work of this nature than for our own operations. A number of our people have been released for war service and wherever possible are being replaced with women.

"Two years ago there were practically no women employed by the T.C.A. except a few doing clerical duties. We now have in the neighborhood of one hundred, and we are commencing to use women in our shops, where they are doing a good job. These women, moreover, are employed on a temporary basis only and when the present influx of our staff who have gone into the service.

MAXIMUM SERVICE

"Additional planes have been allocated to us by the United States Government, due to the essential nature of our service. Initial deliveries have been set for October and December of this year, but this, of course, is conditional upon the war situation. We are getting the maximum service out of our present equipment, but notwithstanding this our planes are getting a more thorough overhaul and inspection than before. Present plans call for the use of this additional equipment for intensification of existing services where this is determined to be necessary.

"The patriotic application on the part of our employees has been exceptionally noticeable. They have applied themselves most diligently and without this loyal co-operation it would have created a difficult situation under existing conditions."

Men Engaged in Deep-Sea Fishing Seek Insurance

VANCOUVER, Feb. 2 (CP).—W. T. Burgess, secretary of the United Fishermen's Federal Union, said today the union plans to submit to Ottawa soon a plan to protect British Columbia's offshore fishermen with wartime risk insurance.

"We plan to submit to Ottawa an insurance scheme covering all the hundreds of men engaged in commercial fishing far off the West Coast of Vancouver Island and the North Coast of British Columbia," Burgess said.

He said British Columbia fishermen feel they are entitled to the same wartime protection as United States offshore fishermen who already have been covered by special insurance payable for injury suffered through enemy action.

Burgess said the insurance scheme would be discussed by a general meeting of fishermen to be held here on February 11.

LUMBER AND MEN BOTH AVAILABLE

British Columbia Member of Commons Advocates Shipbuilding Programme for West Coast

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP). — A programme of lumber shipbuilding to supplement the present steel ship programme was urged upon the House of Commons today by Thomas Reid (Liberal, New Westminster), speaking in the debate on the address in reply to the throne speech.

"Great Britain is crying for ships and lumber," Mr. Reid said. "Lack of shipping was definitely hampering Britain's war effort.

There were "hundreds of men" idle in British Columbia who were capable of building wooden ships, and there was plenty of lumber.

Mr. Reid criticized the methods of the Government in handling the Japanese problem in British Columbia, particularly because the British Columbia members of Parliament were not consulted.

In connection with methods announced for disposing of the Japanese fishing fleets on the Pacific Coast, Mr. Reid warned against the possibility of this fleet falling into the hands of the big fish canning companies.

All Japanese should be sent away from the British Columbia Coast, Mr. Reid said. He suggested they be used to relieve farm labor shortages in Ontario.

All thirty-six boats of the Fairmile class programme would be in operation on the Canadian, Newfoundland and Labrador coasts early next Summer, Mr. Macdonald said.

He spoke in reply to a question asked last week by Dr. F. A. Brace (Conservative, Toronto - Parkdale) based on an editorial in a recent issue of the magazine Boating, entitled "Fairmile Muddle."

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and toss—the restless and tossed sleep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headaches, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Are brave men dying
because You faltered?
Out there on the Libyan sands, in Malaya's torrid jungle, on the high seas and in the air, brave men's lives depend on you. They look to you for support—they cry out for it.
Give them then the weapons for which they call and they will defeat our enemies. If you fail, they must give ground, desperately fighting, inch by inch.
Perhaps your place is at their side in the very heart of it, the proudest place of all.
Or if circumstances deny you this privilege, help to forge and shape the weapons they need, make them faster, make them with all the skill you possess, in larger and still larger numbers.
Remember our young men, your young men, stand between us and disaster—"Open-eyed and unafraid, with their faces to the foe."
Put equal weapons in their hands and they will defeat the foe. Give them superior weapons and in greater quantity and their task will be lighter.
Make this your sacred pledge:
BRAVE MEN SHALL NOT DIE BECAUSE I FALTERED

"DOUGHFACE"

It is to John Randolph, fiery American statesman hailing from Virginia, who was thirty years in Congress, that we owe the unpolitical expression "doughface."

It was in the course of a torrid speech before the Senate's body in 1831 that Randolph coined the epithet.

Referring to Northern politicians who were influenced easily by those from the South, whose faces, that is to say, opinions upon slavery, for example, could be kneaded and made to yield as though made of dough, Randolph attacked Britannia, troubling representatives who were "scared at their own doughfaces." (Did he intend a pun as well upon doe faces, in allusion to the doe's instinct to eat and run from risk?).

Randolph knew about the custom of celebrating Hallowe'en and other such days by covering the face with flour and dough, thus coating it with a featureless mask known as a dough face.

Perhaps this it was that inspired his use of the term for a compliant politician, whose vote was expressionless of his sincere views, of he had any.

NO. 45—EIGHTY-FOURTH YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1942

Glancing Over Sport

By JOE CRLAUGHTY

A BIG SUCCESS

The telephone rang continuously on Saturday from 12 o'clock on in the editorial rooms of this newspaper. Nine times out of ten the caller wanted to know the score of the Victoria-Nanaimo hockey game at the Up-Island city. When told the final result—most of the fans would hardly believe it, having in mind the drubbing the Bapcos took the previous evening at the Willows Arena. However, the Bapcos showed a great reversal of form and made Nanaimo look like Victoria did on Friday night here before that record crowd. One Up-Island fan pulled a fast one in the game played here when he whipped out a whistle and blasted it as the Clippers were on the attack. Victoria players thought that the referee had blown and let up. The result was that the Nanaimo forwards continued their offensive play and skated right in on the top of Goalie Harney and scored with ease. Harney asked after that he thought it was the referee's whistle and therefore made no move to try and stop the shot. From then on the local net minder lost his confidence and that's why the Clippers piled up such a big score. Of course, the injuries to McIntyre and Kilpatrick didn't help matters any for both were sorely missed. Then the Bapcos journeyed to Nanaimo the following evening and made the Up-Island folks swallow a bitter pill when they trounced them by four clear goals.

FROM THE BACKGROUND

Amateur Johnny Dawson flashed as much form in the $5,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament recently he walked off with top honors with a card of 141, made up of rounds of 66 and 67, eleven under par. He finished three strokes in front of Lloyd Mangrum and Leland Gibson, two noted American golf professionals. The biggest blow-up of the tournament was accomplished by Chris Callan Lacey, who breezed through with a net 68 the first day and then cramming all over the course the next time out to finish with an 81. Horton Smith delighted his gallery by finding his line shot on the 36th yard fourteenth hole with a No. 2 iron. It was the first time in the six-a-day history of the tournament that a hole-in-one was made, and it was the second for the young veteran from Pinehurst, North Carolina. This year the noted radio and screen star called off his usual party on the 36th evening for he figured that he could not accommodate the crowd which would invade his ranch. Crosby says that at least 2,500 would be on hand for steak supper. It was one of the few events which Jimmy Hogan has not finished in the payoff with Bing has been in the money in fifty-eight of the last sixty-one tournaments. Now the big-time professionals and leading amateurs head for Phoenix Arizona, for the next scorched classic.

ODDS AND ENDS

Victoria's hockey public are ardent supporters of the Bapcos and they spend some money to see the lads in action, than any of the other Coast cities. There is small wonder a good idea if the players went into strict training and gave the public their best in league fixtures . . . Another well-known Victoria athlete has joined the colors in Kenny Lawson. Kenny has joined the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. Lawson was the city and junior golf champion-ship in 1935 and repeated the following year in the junior event. In 1937 Kay strolled his way to the British Columbia amateur crown when he beat the late Russ Case, of Vancouver, in the thirty-six-hole final at the Uplands course. For three years he was a member of the provincial Willingdon Cup team which competed against the other provinces in a line-up to the Canadian amateur tournament . . . Congratulations to Freddy Welsh on his victory in the city tennis singles event and also to Art. White and Harry Brunell for scoring through in the doubles. Roy Barnes, former baseball and soccer star, who has only been smashing the maples for the past two years, surprised the lads by winning the all-event honors by a comfortable margin . . . The only town in Canada in which wrestling is really booming is Toronto. The other night when The Angel grappled Crusher Casey some 8,000 fans—or about as many "suckers" —crowded the Maple Leaf Garden to watch the boys go through their antics.

Next Game
Friday Night—Vancouver at Victoria.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 3 (CP).—Vancouver Norvans literally outfought Nanaimo Clippers to a 7-3 victory here tonight and forged into a two-point lead in the Pacific Coast Intermediate Amateur Hockey League standings.

Jack Riley, recently reinstated pro, paced Norvans with two goals while Frank Pietrosky, Ken Barker, Johnny Orsali, Bill Nelson and Norm McQuade supplied the others. Jackie Main was the only Nanaimo scorer, netting all three of the Islan's goals.

The win broke a two-way tie for first place and dropped Victoria Bapcos into second spot with twenty-five points, two less than Norvans. Nanaimo now is third with twenty-three points, but Victoria's fugitives are trailing, two points behind the Clippers.

Orsali went through for the only score of the first period after four minutes of play, giving Norvans a 1-0 lead on Riley's pass.

Pietrosky sent the locals ahead by 2-0 margin seven minutes after the middle session, on a pass from Nelson, and Barker gave them a three-goal lead four minutes later when he relayed a pass from Riley.

PLENTY OF PENALTIES

All the point the game took on a rough-house atmosphere and penalties came thick and fast. Fiery McPherson started the run of penalties when he slashed Orsaki and was waved off for two minutes.

On the next play Pietrosky, Norman forward, tangled briefly with Chipperfield, new defenceman, Jimmy Kilburn, and both were banished for two minutes. "Red" Cary was issued a ten-minute misconduct penalty for his part in the frocas, leaving only three Nanaimo players against four Norvans.

Just as McPherson finished serving his time Nick Smith was sent off and Norvans, once again at full strength, ran the lead to 4-0 during the two-man advantage on a goal by Riley who sank a double pass from Orsaki and Barker.

Clippers were held scoreless until the fifteen-minute mark of the second period when Mann put them into the scoring column when he sank a rebound.

Norvans ran in two quick-goals to lead 6-1 after two minutes of play in the final frame on goals by Nelson from Pietrosky and Riley.

Mann, Clippers forward, then staged a one-man rally and cut the lead to 6-2 by scoring two goals in twenty-six seconds, the first on a pass from Tod Kiesh and the second a solo effort.

McQuade, standing unguarded in front of the Clippers' net, picked off a rebound to run the score to 7-3.

Rangers 7, Toronto 2.
Canadiens 5, Chicago 2.

Next Games

Tonight—Rangers at Americans; Chicago at Boston.

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York Rangers appear to be the only contending team in the National Hockey League today with the spirit and strength to take full advantage of the multitudinous misfortunes of Boston Bruins.

Rangers are back in a first-place tie with the Bruins after bouncing the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs, 7-2, Sunday night, while Brooklyn Americans came from behind to beat the shattered Bruins, 5-1. Toronto's lad to pull back into contention with Rangers and Bruins failed Saturday night in Toronto when the decimated Bostonians won 3-2. In other games people the third-period loss of another star, Dit Clapper.

At Chicago, Sunday night, Max Bentley, of the Black Hawks, missed on a major penalty shot late in the third period when a goal would have tied the score with Montreal Canadiens. Buk Paul Bibeault foiled Bentley and Canadiens won 5-2.

Next Games

Tonight—Rangers at Americans; Chicago at Boston.

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York Rangers appear to be the only contending team in the National Hockey League today with the spirit and strength to take full advantage of the multitudinous misfortunes of Boston Bruins.

Rangers are back in a first-place tie with the Bruins after bouncing the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs, 7-2, Sunday night, while Brooklyn Americans came from behind to beat the shattered Bruins, 2-1. Toronto's lad to pull back into contention with Rangers and Bruins failed Saturday night in Toronto when the decimated Bostonians won 3-2. In other games people the third-period loss of another star, Dit Clapper.

At Chicago, Sunday night, Max Bentley, of the Black Hawks, missed on a major penalty shot late in the third period when a goal would have tied the score with Montreal Canadiens. Buk Paul Bibeault foiled Bentley and Canadiens won 5-2.

Greenshirts Win Garrison Trophy For Eighth Time

A crowd of 1,000 witnessed the game which was won by the Greenshirts by a 3-2 score. Both teams were representatives of the Victoria and District Football League championship for another year. Greenshirts were named champions on Sunday when the Dominion Rifle Club held the V.M.D. to a 3-3 stalemate on the Up-Island pitch. The outcome left the Depot eleven three points back of the Weeks, with only one more game to play. It is the eighth season for the perambulator as league champions. In an exhibition match at Esquimalt, Victoria West and Esquimalt played to a 1-1 draw. Roy Oskell registered for the green-shirts and Joe Robbins equalled for the sailors. With the league championship settled, the way is now open for the first round of the Dominion Cup series, draw for which was announced last week.

Clappers lose climaxed a vicious streak of bad luck which has the big defenceman, probably Bruins' most supported player, had his Achilles tendon cut by a skate during the third period at Toronto when he collided with Bob Kampman. He is out for the season.

SCORE FOR GOALS

Leafs couldn't capitalize on those injuries, and they looked even worse against Rangers. The New Yorkers scored four second-period goals against Turk Broda after a reply, and increased their margin in the last. Lynn Patrick scored twice, Mac Colville, Phil Watson and Alex Shibicky once each. Nick Metz, Hextall, Bill Juzda and Alf Pike played Rangers' defence. Referee Bingo Kampman counted for Leafs. Rangers have won seven, tied one and lost one since December 6.

Milt Schmidt, scored the overtime goal that beat Toronto Maple Leafs, Saturday night, and Johnny McCreedy and Gord Drillon netted Toronto goals, with Herb Cain and Eddie Wares getting Boston's first two counters.

Flash Hollett, Boston defence's only goal on a breakaway in the first period as Brooklyn won Sunday night. Bill Summerhill added the score in the second and Pat Egan won the game in the third. Kilrea checked figured in the plays for both Brooklyn goals.

Charlie Sands scored the winner for Canadiens at 17:13 in the third of Chicago, Saturday night. Elmer Benoit were other Canada scorers, while Bob Gracie scored Chicago's counting for Hawks.

MENTAL IMPACT

Naturally it is physically impossible for a golfer to see the actual impact between the club-face and the ball. That club-face adjustment can only be recorded by high speed photography and an actual illustration of this is shown above. As it happens this is one of the better impacts with the ball not perfectly in the driver. As such it can serve as an excellent example of how for the player to keep in mind when he is swinging at the ball.

By visualizing the contact of club-head and ball, straight along the intended line he has a definite pattern or hitting which the subconscious mind places into effect when muscles carry through to completion. The practice if concentrated on will not only improve the attention one gives to swinging, but make it more enjoyable and lead to better golfers similar to the type issued to Home Guards.

"New cadet units will be stiffened in the Home Guard or Territorial establishments for training purposes," an official of the British Imperial Cadet Association said, "and when the boys reach the age of seventeen they automatically will pass into the Home Guard."

The rail training scheme for boys has not yet been announced but plans have been drawn up by the association for the establishment of units to accommodate boys sent for training.

Sailors Rally to Gain 3-3 Tie With Soldier Sextette

Two Rapid-Fire Goals in Third Stanza Save Navy Puckchasers From Defeat at Hands of Army —Sutherland Brilliant in Bluejackets' Goal—Fusiliers Triumph

Royal Canadian Navy puckchasers are still undefeated, but they came exceptionally close to having their winning streak snapped last night at the Willows Arena by a fighting Army sextette that gave the sailors possibly a little more competition than they expected.

Forced to fight uphill all of the way, the bluejackets came up with two rapid-fire goals in the third canto to gain a draw, the second of the season with the soldiers.

The Army crowd showed in front, 1-0, on a goal by Braychuk at 7:10, and added two minutes later the Navy squalished when Richardson's shot found the net off Kruker's skate.

In the sandwich session the Army moved ahead again. Grad scoring on two solo efforts were knotted-ed, and at a time when the sailors, in a desperate effort to take the lead, had five forwards on the ice.

Army moved ahead 3-1 in the third stanza on a goal by Archer who, by the way, was a tower of strength on the Army attack and defence for the soldier boys.

Sailors, battling like Trojans to stave off defeat, made it two margin at 14:50 when Gibb scored, and then knotted the count twenty-two seconds later when Hulme nagged the equalizer.

It was a fast, thrilling game, with the soldiers outplaying the sailors during the first period, getting sailor goalie, one of his toughest evenings. Was phenomenal, and is entitled to much of the credit for saving the bluejackets from going down to defeat.

DeAuxiles, young soldier net custodian, turned in another smart performance, and was particularly effective during the final minutes of the contest, when the sailors, desperately in better condition, put on considerable pressure.

Playing in the nightcap of the double bill Edmonton Fusiliers, Panama, defeated the R.C.A.F. 6-4, in a wide-open rugged fixture.

Trailing by two goals in the third session the lads from Prairie Sky knotted the count, but the Fusiliers came back with a pair of smart tallies to take the game.

More than 1,200 fans witnessed the exhibitions.

MILITARY CADETS IN BATTLE DRESS

LONDON (CP)— Military cadet units throughout Great Britain are expected to absorb many thousands of fifteen-year-old boys who will register under the new national scheme for the "guidance" of youths too young to enter the armed forces.

These units which already have 23,000 members, received a boost from the War Office today when it was announced that uniforms formerly purchased by the units will be supplied free of charge. They will consist of battle dress, field service cap and leather gaiters similar to the type issued to Home Guards.

DAWSON WINS GOLF TOURNEY

Amateur Shotmaker Paces Field in $5,000 Open Event in California

RANCHO SANTA FE, Feb. 3 (UP) — Good - natured consternation reigned among the nation's greatest golfers today as Johnny Dawson, an amateur—and for many years one of the best in the country—captured the $4th annual $5,000 pro-amateur tournament staged by Singer Bing Crosby with a record-breaking score registered before a record-breaking crowd.

The good-looking Hollywood amateur, decided entry in United States amateur championship because of his sporting goods company commission but admitted as a Simon-pure in every other respect, took the beautiful Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club course apart for the second successive day and finished with a thirty-six-hole score of 66-67—133.

Dawson's mastery and par-par golf—he was eleven strokes under par for the two rounds—was three shots better than the best the top-flight professionals could shoot. It was left to a pair of dark horse pros, Lloyd Mangrum, of Monterey Park, Cal., and Leland Gibson, to pace their field

BIG NAMES OUT

Mangrum shot a round of 30-36 —66 for 136, and his Kansas City (Mo.) counterpart, Gibson, had a 68 for 138. Far back in the rut were the big name stars of the event—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson, Lawson Little and others.

Dapper Johnny won no cash, but picked up the Larry Crosby trophy, named in honor of the host's brother, and ordinarily presented to the leading amateur in the tournament.

It was the first time an amateur had won the event, and the score was two strokes better than the previous record of 135 scored in 1940 by Ed (Porky) Oliver.

Plenty of High Sticking

Here's an added attraction for the fans who witnessed the hockey clash between the Montreal Canadiens and the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden. Tony Grabosky (8), of the Canadiens, and Earhart (Ott) Heller, of the Rangers, start wielding their sticks at each other in the first period.

According to Culbertson

To urge partner to bid something which you are quite qualified to bid on for yourself is one of the most futile and most expensive errors in bridge.

The bidding.

2 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

South almost swooned when he heard North's jump, unsupported pass to the double raise. "O, partner," South groaned, "if I'd thought there was any chance of you passing I would have bid four." And here in this phase is often heard at the bridge table, we have the glut of an almost, nonexistent situation. Players who habitually give a double raise when their hand is worth a triple raise realize that the former is not an absolute force (if it is the raise of a response), and yet go blithely along, relieve their partner will pass short of the game. In this case South saw that North, with almost any kind of spade response, would have a good play for game, yet he merely urged North to bid game. Surely, North would not be blamed for refusing to take further action on his horrible hand. Many players (like South) are confused as to the respective strength of double raises and triple raises. Compare these two sequences:

South	North
1 ♠	3 ♠
(B)
South	North

In sequences A North's three spade bid is an absolute force, because it is a raise of an opening bid. In this sense it is stronger, as far as hcp or tricks are concerned, than a four spade bid would be. In sequence B the three spade bid is the raise of a response and is not absolutely forcing. It follows that a four spade bid which actually puts the partnership into a 10 trick contract, must be a stronger bid under these circumstances than the double raise.

EXCITING FEATURE AT DOMINION HELD OVER

During his four months' furlough, Byron De Cosh, flight officer in the all-American Eagle Fighter Squadron of the R.A.F., acted as technical adviser for "International Squadron," which has been held over at the Dominion Theatre. Thus accuracy of scenes were assured.

The picture gives Ronald Reagan his first starring role. Reagan has recently chosen by the Motion Picture Herald - Exhibitor Poll as "a star of tomorrow."

Featured with him in the exciting film story are Olivier Bannen, William Lundigan, Joan Perry and Reginald Denny.

OAK BAY "A Woman's Face," starring Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas, is currently showing at the Oak Bay Theatre. It is the story of a woman whose disfigured face turns her to a life of crime which ultimately leads to her being placed on trial for her life. Melvyn Douglas plays the part of her lawyer and Conrad Veidt, Osa Massen, Reginald Owen, Albert Bassermann, Marjorie Main and Donald Meek in important roles.

PLAZA It is thirty years ago in THEATRE time. Tom and Johnson teamed up as a singing and comedy act in Chicago, but today Tom has gone stronger than ever. "Hellzapoppin," their own stage show which ran for four years on Broadway, has been made into a movie and the famous comedy has been along with Martha Raye and others are now being presented at the Plaza Theatre.

RIO THEATRE "Mystery Sea Raider," which opened at the Rio Theatre yesterday, provides high adventure and excitement as Boyer's brother, Lucien Boyer, and Warner Baxter, as the skipper of "One Million B.C." Miss Landis will also be remembered for her starring role in the thriller, "Twenty Mules."

YORK THEATRE "Underground," Warner Bros. picture starring Jeffrey Lynn, Kaaren Verne and Philip Dorn, is now showing at the York Theatre. "Underground" tells how the underground workers in the suppressed nations of Europe use short wave radio transmitters to broadcast the news that is the distaste governments are at such pain to suppress.

CAPITOL THEATRE One of the most outstanding movies of the season, "49th Parallel," is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The plot is highly dramatic and revolves around the tale of a German fugitive submarine crew who seek to escape across Canada to a neutral country. Leading roles are admirably played by Leslie Howard, Raymond Massey, Laurence Olivier and Anton Walbrook.

CADET THEATRE Teaming Ronald Colman and Anna Lee for the first time, RKO Radio's "My Life With Caroline," now at the Cadet Theatre, is said to be one of the year's most entertaining romantic comedies. Colman is cast as a wealthy and tolerant publisher. Miss Lee, a top favorite with British picture-goers, makes her American debut as Colman's lovely but flighty bride.

ATLAS THEATRE "Hold Back the Dawn," now showing at the Atlas Theatre, is built around the United States immigration service. In the picture Charles Boyer is a European scoundrel who lives by smuggling Mexicans, and Walter Abel is the immigration man. The romantic story turns on Boyer's efforts to get past Abel by marrying an unsuspecting American girl, Olivia de Havilland. In his romantic plot, Boyer is aided by an old flame, Paulette Goddard.

Monologist Has Made Few Radio Appearances

In all her years of touring (and they number twenty), Ruth Draper in her monologues has made only three radio appearances. Two were broadcasts overseas. The last, an unintentional but historical because it was the occasion for the first air-wave theatre production to originate from the Pitt Island.

These Christmases ago Miss Draper did a radio version of "A Scottish Immigrant at Ellis Island" for the Red Cross and on January 30, 1941, she presented her "Opening a Bazaar" on a New York to London hook-up over WABC.A.

The success of the monologue will be heard here on February 19 at the Royal Victoria Theatre Tickets are now on sale at Hibbs' Attractions box office, Fletcher Bros' Music Store, Douglas Street.

There was a grave shortage of nurses. When the situation appeared to be getting out of control, Lady Clifford, wife of Sir Bede Clifford, organized a VAD group of girls and women. They went to work in the stricken wards and gradually the outbreak slackened. Then when the typhoid was brought under control, malaria began.

For two months Lady Clifford and her little group of volunteers worked night and day shifts, with drugs snatched at odd hours, until both epidemics had been stamped out. The camp is in normal health now

WIN THE BATTLE WITH EPIDEMICS

MAURITIUS ISLAND (BUP) —A little group of British volunteer nurses, led by Lady Clifford, Americans wife of the Governor, have fought and won a battle to save the island colony of Mauritius Typhoid fever and malaria were the double enemies.

Soon after detainee had been brought to a camp on the island —460 miles east of Madagascar, in the Indian Ocean—the hospital was swamped with typhoid cases.

The scourge took hold, and threatened to spread across the island.

Rain fell daily for more than a month, and the morale of the camp and hospital was low. Resistance almost petered out.

NO COMPLAINTS FROM PIONEERS

Qualities of Men Who Developed West Are Praised By Gyro Speaker

While Canadians today complain

the pioneers who opened up Western Canada suffered hardships and reverses courageously and cheerfully, Ven. Archdeacon Robert Connell told Victoria Gyros at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"I believe you will hear more complaining today as you walk down the street than ever was heard in those early difficult days," he asserted as he described the fortitude and tenacity of purpose with which the early men and women carried on to adversity.

ORDINARY PEOPLE

Archdeacon Connell described some of the pioneers he had known in his ministry during the 1880's. Characters typical of those "early men to whom we are indebted for the opening up of the West—these plain, ordinary people whose names don't get into books, and are not found in history, but who did the spade and shovel work in the opening up of our country."

Among those who made the lumy voyage from England and Scotland or struck out into the "great lone land" from Eastern Canada, were artisans, carpenters, stone masons, miners and office workers, men without experience in farming.

COMMON PURPOSE

But whether they were experienced or were without any knowledge of agriculture, they were motivated by a common purpose: a determination to make homes for themselves, farthest-afield and near.

Hardships they had to put up with included crop failures, starvation, loss of livestock and lack of farming implements.

The fact that they persisted and finally succeeded in developing their farms disproves the then popular quip that the country was fit only for "Scotsmen and Indians," he declared.

What Today Means

"AQUARIUS"

If February 3 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 8 to 10 a.m.; from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 6 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 4 to 6 a.m., from 8 to 2 p.m., and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

Most of the power combined with personal ability will cause many persons to "cut off their nose to spite their face" and make moves that will be adverse to their best interests. February 3 will be a good day on which to remember that "too many cooks spoil the broth," and conflicting orders are bound to result in a situation that is confusion. An urge to gossip will cause many people to voice foolish opinions regarding others they are not qualified to discuss, so consider carefully what you hear, and then draw your own conclusions as to its justification or correctness. Respect for others and a real broadness of view will be shown by those who are inclined to be critical of many opponent arrangements, are to be avoided.

If you are a woman and February 3 is your birthday, you may show a good judgment, if you sugar-coat the unpleasant remarks you may feel impelled to make. In your contact with the general public remember that "you cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," or a wise man out of a fool, so do not waste your time trying to do either.

Never permit yourself to become a willing martyr to a temperamental person's whims if you wish to enjoy your proper proportion of happiness. As a government employee, dietician, trained nurse, teacher, hospital director, actress, writer, sales agent, business manager, or professional entertainer, you may find yourself called upon to work with and successful career. Mutual respect, common interests and congeniality should enable you and the man you marry to enjoy a happy life together.

The child born on February 2 is instinctively discerning and often possesses a remarkable amount of intuition. Unless, as an early age, he learns to control his feelings, this youngster may display no inhibitory check upon his or her desires for people. Only cultivated rudeness can prevent this youngster from becoming popular and successful in his undertakings.

If you are a male and February 3 is your natal day, always bear in

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET HELD
Four Hundred Attend Dinner—Lecture by Dr. J. G. Inkster
The celebrations in connection with the anniversary of the Centenary of First United Church were fittingly brought to a close last night with a banquet in the gymnasium of the church, followed by an illustrated lecture by Rev. Dr. J. G. Inkster, former pastor, who gave a lecture entitled "My Experiences In New Zealand." Four hundred people attended.
The ladies of the congregation, under Mrs. W. S. Dawson, prepared a banquet in the basement of the church in honor of its founders. The affair took the form of a "Scotch Dinner" and the haggis was "piped in" in traditional style by Miss Helen Finlayson and Miss Evelyn Watson, two members of the Highland Dasies' Pipe Band. Miss Finlayson was the piper, while Miss Watson carried in the haggis. The address to the haggis was given by James Walker.
TENDER GREETINGS
During the dinner, over which Rev. Hugh McLeod, pastor of the church presided, and at which greetings from the congregation's invited guests attended, greetings and congratulations were received from Rev. T. G. Griffiths, chairman of the Presbytery of Victoria, Rev. J. Lewis McLaren, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association, and Rev. Dr. A. H. Sovereign, minister of Metropolitan Church.
Regrets were sent by Rev. Bruce Hunter, a former assistant pastor of that he was unable, owing to illness, to be present, and wishing the congregation every success.
Two selections, "The Border Ballad" and a selection from "The Bohemian Girl," were sung by the church choir under George H. Peaker, the soloists being Mrs. C. A. Goodwin and Mrs. W. Wilson.
Following dinner, the congregation repaired to the church auditorium, where a poem of Donald Fraser was read, following a greeting extended by Mr. McLeod, William T. Straith, K.C., M.P.P., showed historic slides of the church, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, a former pastor, addressed the gathering. Then followed the lecture by Dr. Inkster, with Alfred Hurtable operating the lantern.

NEWLY APPOINTED JUDGE IS GREETED

Mr. Justice J. W. Ellis, recently appointed to the Supreme Court of British Columbia, was welcomed yesterday morning when he presided over Supreme Court Chambers for the first time at the Courthouse.

Greetings on behalf of barristers and members of the Law Society of British Columbia were extended by the treasurer, W. C. Moresby, K.C. A warm welcome was also tendered by Harry J. Davis, on behalf of the Victoria Bar Association.

In thanking the speakers, Mr. Justice Ellis expressed appreciation for the many courtesies shown by members of the Victoria bar during his appointment in County Court.

Trends Slightly Higher in Stocks On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP).—Contradictions were the rule in today's financial markets.

While stocks managed to keep thetly balance, with trends slightly higher in the majority of cases, commodities exhibited renewed weakness and bonds generally presented a somewhat droopy appearance.

The share list was mildly irregular at the start, but prices steadied after noon and gains of fractions had the best of it at the close.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was up .2 of a point at 37.8, first advance since last Tuesday.

Dealings were negligible throughout most of the session. Transactions totalled only 320,270 shares, smallest since June 24 last year, had it not been for several sizable blocks of five thousand shares. Today's turnover compared with 277,460 last Friday. Standard trends came out in the sale of 21,800 shares of 1-8 at 4, its final figure.

Prominent gainers included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Boeing, Pc. Southern, Railway, Pennsylvania, Texas Co., Anaconda, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Westinghouse and J. C. Penney. American Telephone and Montgomery Ward.

A shade in arrears were N.Y. Central, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, International Telephone, National Distillers and Canadian Pacific.

GAINS RECORDED BY MONARCH LIFE

Report of Directors Shows Underwriting Activities at High Level
—Progress Recorded

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3.—The thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Monarch Life Assurance Company was held at the home office of the company here on January 27, with E. J. Tarr, K.C., president, presiding. The report of the directors shows that underwriting activities were at a very high level and on the financial side satisfactory progress made.

The excess of market value of bonds and stocks over book value of investments increased, and provision was made for all accrued and duly policyholders' interest for the unreported policy claims increased from $40,000 to $50,000, being a wise precaution because of the delay which quite frequently occurs in the reporting of war deaths. The contingency reserve was increased by $40,000 to $100,000. The remaining free surplus shows an increase of $48 959 to $113,000. The total of special funds available for the protection of policyholders, over and above all legal obligations, now amounted to $1,477,286.26, which is the equivalent to 20.6 per cent legal obligations. These facts place the company in an exceptionally strong financial position.

Total assets increased during the year by $804,404, whereas the company's holdings of Dominion Government securities increased by $1,000,000. Mr. Tarr pointed out that this gives comforting evidence to policyholders that the insurance premiums directly support the war effort and, further, that the directors would continue their heavy purchases of Dominion loans for the lower average interest returns, as a result of this policy, will doubtless necessitate a higher premium rate. He say such changes will not affect existing policies.

PROGRESS SHOWN BY CROWN LIFE

New Policies, Assets and Surplus Large in History of Insurance Company

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—The forty-first annual report of the Crown Life Insurance Company shows the largest volume of business and the strongest financial statement in the history of the company, according to O. Howard Ferguson, who presided at the annual meeting of the Crown Life Insurance Company held this week.

The report of the board of directors revealed that new policies issued during the year amounted to $24,976,697.24, an increase of $5,256,823.95, or 12.3%.

The assets reached a record figure of $86,167,874.34, an increase of $5,256,823.95, or 12.3%.

The average rate of interest earned by the company during the past year was 4.63%.

Reserves for policy liabilities reached the record sum of $41,426,-427.00, which represents a reserve maintained on a basis substantially higher than required by the law. In addition there was established a reserve by the company for the benefit of policyholders totaling $3,-603,866.36.

PAYMENTS OF CLAIMS

Payments to policyholders amounted to $3,516,513.97. Death claims and matured requests of $2,-259,043.87, which included $67,311.23 resulting from war claims. Payments to annuitants and beneficiaries under the reserve for contingencies, $236,-000.00. Dividends to shareholders, $33,413.80 as shareholders' dividends, and the balance of $172,586.16 was added to the surplus funds. The free surplus now stands at $2,027,-427.66, the highest in the history of the company.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Peter Rabbit Has a Plan

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Everyone in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows knew that Unc' Billy Possum had sent by Skimmer the Swallow for his family to leave "Ol' Virginny" and to come to the Green Forest. Unc' Billy was so eager and impatient for them to arrive that he could talk of nothing else. Little Forest people soon grew tired of hearing about Unc' Billy's family. Even Jimmy Skunk would sometimes hear him singing:

Ah'll lived alone fo' a long, long time.

But Ah won't live alone no mo'!
Mah children's coming dis tree to clim'
An' to play all about mah do'.

One day Peter Rabbit heard him and it set Peter to thinking. Most of the little people of the Green Forest and Green Meadow liked Unc' Billy Possum, and all were interested in Unc' Billy's family. Why not get up a party, a surprise party, to greet Unc' Billy's family when they should arrive? Peter was so tickled with the idea that straightway he hurried a couple of somersaults in the middle of the path and then hurried over to Johnny Chuck's house to see what Johnny thought of the plan.

Johnny Chuck thought Peter's idea was splendid. They got their heads together and made a list of those they could invite. It included Jumper the Hare, Jimmy Skunk, Bobby Coon, Billy Mink, Little Joe Otter, Jerry Muskrat, Happy Jack Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirrel, Striped Chipmunk, old Mr. Toad, Spotty the Turtle, Grandfather Frog, Danny Meadow Mouse, Whitefoot the Wood Mouse and Prickly Porky, of course.

"What about Reddy Fox?" asked Peter.

Johnny Chuck made a wry face. "And Shadow the Weasel?" asked Peter.

So Peter Rabbit Hurried Off to Invite All Those Named to Join in a Surprise Party

Another wry face from Johnny Chuck.

"And Blacky the Crow and Sammy Jay?" continued Peter.

"They're troublemakers," replied Johnny.

"And Drummer the Woodpecker?" "Of course," replied Johnny. "We need Drummer to beat the long roll when the family arrives."

So Peter Rabbit hurried off to invite all those named to join in giving Unc' Billy Possum's family a surprise party when they arrived. Everyone agreed to come and to bring something to eat.

"Remember, it's secret so as to be a surprise," warned Peter. "Cross your hearts that you won't tell a soul about it."

And each one crossed his heart and promised not to tell. You see, Peter didn't want Reddy Fox or Shadow the Weasel or Sammy Jay or Blacky the Crow, who had not been invited, to know anything about it. Tired and footsore from delivering all his invitations, Peter Rabbit sat on Johnny Chuck's doorstep that evening.

"It's a good plan," said Peter Rabbit.

"It's a splendid plan," said Johnny Chuck. "Won't Unc' Billy be surprised?"

Next Story: "Sammy Jay Learns Peter Rabbit's Secret."

MINING MEN TO BE HEARD

Will Outline Objections to Present Securities Act Before Committee

The mining committee of the Legislature will hear representative mining men before it to-day or to-morrow to hear their objections to the present Security Frauds Prevention Act.

At the suggestion of W. J. Asselstine (Liberal, Fernie) the committee will endeavor to ascertain where the division between the work of the Department of Mines and the securities branch lies.

Mr. Asselstine made his proposal after T. A. Love (Conservative, Grand Forks-Greenwood) told the committee that the Department of Mines, using an estimate appearing in its 1934 report, had informed potential American backers of the Mother Lode Mine, Greenwood, that the property had only 50,000 tons of ore available. Since then, Mr. Love declared, developers of the Mother Lode have taken out 667,000 tons of ore, and more is in sight.

TAKE MANY ASSAYS

Further, he said, those interested in exploiting the mine had previously secured four or five thousand assays.

E. E. De Beck, superintendent of brokers and registrar under the Securities Act, commented that any interference with it at present would be "widely disturbing" to investors, since there is a great deal of money in the hands of small holders.

Mr. Asselstine interjected that the Department of Mines "comes in for a great deal of criticism," and that any conflict between it and the securities branch should be resolved.

In reviewing the administration of the Security Frauds Prevention Act, Mr. De Beck said that he was not anxious to source vendor shares of mining companies, but that the best evidence of a promoter's good faith was his willingness to have such shares escrowed and to take his profit from the mine in which he is interested.

His office, he said, is "full of records of 'mesa' ticket companies" formed by small groups." One such company raised $20,000 and, after four years, bought a royalty in an adjoining company for $6,000.

Another problem is that of company directors who "do not direct," and prefer to leave that to one man. Most of them, however, when the matter is brought to their attention by the securities branch, "send to Bentinck."

During the four and a half years in which he has held office, his branch has made nearly 250 investigations privately, as that no harm is done if complaints received proved to be groundless. Some investigations disclose fraud and criminal acts, and result in prosecutions. "Prosecutions," Mr. De Beck added, "are sad advertising, but the public must be willing to be punished."

He considered that the Securities Act was not standing in the way of mine development, and reasserted that there was at present a shortage of promoters and brokers rather than a lack of prospectors.

If it is possible, his department stands ready to give a prospector free shares, Mr. De Beck said.

TELLS OF DIFFICULTIES

The securities branch has difficulty not with public companies but with small private concerns, improperly set up. "I deplore the fact," Mr. De Beck remarked, "that $1 out of $5 put up by the public goes toward promotion, and I hope to see the time when the great bulk of funds subscribed goes 'into the ground.' We are working to end the situation under which $1 of every $5 subscribed goes to beating down sales resistance."

At the suggestion of Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, Mr. De Beck explained that the Security Frauds Prevention Act covers investments and Industrial companies as well as mining concerns.

"Would you include it?" he exclaimed, "over $300,000 of British Columbia money has gone out of the province to further the development of a [illegible] machine."

"What the act needs," interjected Louis Lebourdais (Liberal, Cariboo), "is a super-attorney-general like [illegible] with perpetual motion."

OIL, NOT ALTERN

Turning to oil royalties, Mr. De Beck said that Alberta has one of the soundest administrative and security fraud prevention legislation of any province in the Dominion, and that British Columbia works closely with the Alberta department. Since the act has been in force, investors have received a good return on the funds so invested.

British Columbia, he added, has contributed more to the development of oil wells than any other province, and he would like to see more of this money invested in projects on this coast.

Train Local Reserve Units for Coast Defence

Seen above are the officers of the 3rd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, and the 114th Infantry Reserve Company, Veterans' Guard of Canada, reserve army units training for the defence of the Pacific Coast. In the second row, fifth from the left, is Lieut.-Col. F. Brooks Bagshaw, D.C.L., who has left to Major J. A. Dewar, D.C. the 114th Company, Veterins' Guard. The 3rd Scottish was recently changed from an infantry battalion to a heavy machine gun battalion. The 114th Infantry Co. is attached to the Scottish for training.

CHAPTER XIV

"I had a wonderful time over the week-end," Emily said Monday evening as she sat opposite Judith in the small dinette of their apartment and Fannie shuffled slowly between them, Emily's brown eyes fairly danced and her happy smile was perpetual. Her appetite must, she felt, have ribbed it her food. "Tim and I went dancing Saturday night and then we took a long ride later. I've learned something, Judith. I've learned there's fear in love, the fear of loss. You can't see ahead and it scares you."

Judith poured a simple brown wool business frock. Her head was dark and shining in the candlelight. "But Tim loves you. I saw it in his face."

"I'm sure he does. He has said it so many times I mustn't doubt it. But I want to marry him, Judith. Seeing each other, dancing, having fun isn't enough. It's still a man's world, isn't it? You have to wait for them to ask you and if they never do . . . You see, I'm terribly serious about this. I was just romantic about the others. Even if Tim would disappoint me, I'd still love him."

Was she just being romantic about Max? Judith wondered. But Max's personality had struck her heart like a blow and all at once she had wanted to be only what he wanted her to be.

After Fannie had brought in the coffee Judith said, and there was an appealing little-girl look of guilt in her eyes, "I haven't told you about Max Worthington." What could she say about Max? She thought, "I could explain Stephen Lacrelaw so well, but Max defies description. He isn't a type."

"Who is he?" Emily asked.

"I met him Saturday a week after Phyllis and Ames sailed. He'd met Bob Kennedy before Max and I had dinner on Friday last and I'm to see him again tomorrow evening. He's a combination of so many things I can't explain him. He seems to have seen everything and to know everything. He makes me feel terribly young." She looked at Emily steadily. "He's exciting, but not in the way Tim is exciting. Max has that violently, he said, and yet he's gentle and tender and thoughtful."

"I couldn't cope with a man like that."

"Perhaps I can't. I don't know enough."

"You seem more than usually interested."

She nodded. "I am. I'm very serious about this, too."

Emily was sewing and Judith reading when the telephone in the bedroom rang.

"Maybe it's for you," Emily said. Max? Judith tried to be casual about putting the book aside and leaving the living-room.

"Judith?" Max asked.

"Yes." That voice, she thought, robs me of strength and resistance. I grieve and hate myself, but I can't help it.

"I am sitting in this hideous hotel room wishing there was a picture of you here to cheer me. Do you suppose you could manage to have some new ones taken? No old ones, mind you. I want one A.M.—after Max."

"Is there any particular pose you prefer."

He laughed. "I remember your left profile turned as you were sitting in the car that way. That, however, isn't all I remember. I remember everything. Did you have a pleasant week-end at home?"

"All my evenings at home are pleasant. And yours?"

"Hectic. They usually are. I don't know why I let myself be dragged to places that bore me with people who are so inferior to you that the comparison is painful. You haven't said anything that matters. You know what I want you to say."

"No. Max, I don't."

"Say, 'I love you very much'."

"I . . ."

He laughed. "You won't! I'll make you say it tomorrow evening at 7:30. Good night, my darling."

The lamps were dim gold and the apartment seemed to be in a state of waiting as tense as she. That he was late was forgiven with tender amusement. She was grateful that Emily was out. But she could not think. All her forces had joined into the common one of inner waiting.

When, finally, she opened the door, he cried to her, smiling, a smile that made her weak with wordless. Then the door closed and the small foyer received them. Max drew her close, his hands as demanding as his lips that kissed hers.

"Will you say it now, Judith?"

"It's past 7:30."

"You're a vain, obstinate darling."

Skis Were Fixed For Geman Use

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (CP).—Many of the skis collected by the Germans in Norway and occupied Europe for the use of Nazi troops on the Eastern front have proved unserviceable, the B.B.C. said today. Prior to delivery to the Germans, the skis had been soaked in water and then quickly dried, with the result that they broke into pieces as soon as they were put to hard use, the radio said. The broadcast was heard here by C.B.S.

NO ORDER PREVENTING ARMY MEN FROM GOING TO NAVY OR AIR UNITS

OTTAWA, Feb. 3 (CP).—Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons today he knew of no order which prevented men called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act from joining the navy or the air force during the first two months of their army training.

He was answering a question from Conservative House Leader Hanson, who said he heard transfers to the other services had been stopped.

Col. Ralston said enlistments in the navy and air force were not permitted when the men got to the more advanced stage of their basic army training.

VOLUNTEERS IN MANY CENTRES

Island Citizens Compete for Honor of Assisting in Victory Loan Campaign

The enthusiasm of Victoria residents for the new Victory Loan, indicated by the large number of offers of assistance being received at district headquarters here, is an experience being duplicated in centres throughout the Island area, organizers report.

Earl Pollock, who accepted the responsibility of appointing committee members in the West Coast area, back yesterday from a trip north to Zeballos, described the splendid co-operation he received in obtaining workers. He told of keen competition in some centres for the job, as residents sought the honor of carrying the loan message to small hamlets, canneries, fish-packing centres and small towns.

WILL DO TWO JOBS

He listed fourteen men and women who will handle the sections from Port Renfrew to Zeballos. Besides acting on the committee they will be salesmen and will be assisted by others when the general canvass begins.

The workers and the centres to which they have been allocated include J. J. Muter, Port Renfrew; Dan Holliday, Clo-oose; Eric E. Brohan and W. A. McGee, Bamfield; John P. Munro, Outlook and Port Alberni; C. A. Hilmanton, Tofino, Bear River and Kakawis; Mrs. S. Barr, Clayoquot; Rose Dodd, Ahousat; Ivan Clarke, Refuge Cove, Rodney Inlet and Boat Basin; H. A. Hartvigsen, Hecka; Neil McLeod, Coe-pee-coe; Fred Betan and C. W. Nicholson, Zeballos and H. Mahoney, Kyuquot.

R. W. Miller, organizer for the Gulf Islands, following a tour through his district in which he was aided by the Provincial Police boat, reports similar reaction. There, too, committee members will also act as salesmen.

TWO GROUPS FORMED

For the purposes of the campaign Salt Spring, with a general committee of Dr. E. H. Lawson, Captain C. H. Meade and V. Case Morris, has been divided in half with groups functioning at Ganges to handle the northern section and at Fulford to cover the southern end. The Ganges committee includes V. Case Morris, Miss Ann Lees, Mrs. E. H. Scythe, A. Inglis and Captain Y. C. Beal. Committee men at Fulford are Dr. Alexander Grimmer, Harold A. Davis and Mrs. E. R. M. Charlesworth.

F. Broome and Stanley Page have taken charge at Galiano Island. Mrs. P. Reddyhoff, S. P. Corbett and J. P. Bridges form the Pender committee. W. M. Greene and D. J. Vigurs hold similar positions for Mayne Island and Mrs. L. M. Spaulding is directing work on South Pender. C. W. Burnett holds the official capacity at Saturna and Mrs. E. Allison on North Galiano.

VICTORIA SAILOR IS NOW REPORTED DEAD

Arthur C. Harness, Victoria-born sailor reported missing aboard the S.S. Meridian last October, is now believed dead, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Harness, 1777 Hampshire Road, from the United States Maritime Commission at Ottawa. He was third officer aboard the ship.

Born here twenty-nine years ago, he attended Victoria schools before going to sea some years ago. He formerly served on Canadian oil tankers.

His grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Creeden, lives at 1536 Cold Harbor Road.
